Three Men Are Killed in Crash, Fourth Is in Kingston Hospital

Couple Found After 22 Years

Above here are Thomas C. Buntin, as he was photographed in Beaumont, Texas, and the former Betty McCuddy, phoographed by a Beaumont Journal photographer by chance last summer during a trial in Beaumont where she is a court reporter. The couple, officially declared dead, were living in Orange, Texas, where Miss McCuddy is known as Mrs. Thomas D. Palmer. They disappeared in 1931 when Miss McCuddy passed up a fortune to go off with her former employer, Buntin, member of a socially prominent family in Nashville, Tenn.

Friends, Neighbors Rally To Sides of Betty and Tom

Romance Which Began in 1931, Became Enduring Love for Couple in Texas

Orange, Tex., Nov. 27 (AP)—The enduring love of Betty McCuddy and Tom Buntin, the full story a secret even from their children after 22 years, rallied friends and neighbors to their side today.

Back in 1931, insurance man Thomas C. Buntin of Nashville, Tenn.—called an alcoholic incapable of earning a living outside his wealthy family's business—disappeared. Six weeks later, after Buntin's will had been mailed from St. Louis, the pretty Russellville, Ky., girl who had been his secretary vanished, too.

The cost to the forelorn pair: A wife, three sons, family prestige and a thriving business to him; her family and a share in a million dollar estate for unmarried Betty.

Only rumor and speculation ever connected the two disappearances. As much of the story as anybody knows began in Brownsville, Tex., weeks after the disappearances when Tom and Betty decided to let their love flower in the lush Rio Grande valley. Their plane to New Orleans was grounded there by bad weather. They moved here from Brownsville about five years ago.

Was Not Ne'er-Do-Well

Tom, 28, proved not to be the ne'er-do-well a Tennessee Supreme Court branded him. He and 22-year-old Betty stayed in Texas and somewhere along the years assumed the names of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Palmer.

Yesterday, their love—after 22 years of happiness and six children—was splashed across the nation's front pages. The Nashville Tennessean broke the story in a copyrighted dispatch.

Today, dazed by the quick developments, the tall, thin man and the motherly woman with gray in her hair waited to tell their love story to children rushing to their white frame home here.

Neighbors dropped by to chat last night as Tom and Betty, four of their children with them, ate a belated Thanksgiving Day dinner . . . silent and miserable, almost bitter earlier in the day, they took on a more cheerful manner as their old friends rallied around.

Praise for Couple

"They're among the finest people I know," a prominent Orange resident told The Associated Press.

"Everybody in the neighborhood thinks the world of them," a neighbor told reporters.

"We were in love," Betty told Nashville Tennessean reporter John Seigenthaler. "Money didn't mean too much to us. If money

President Hopes For No More Wars

Tells Gratitude for Son's Return; Would End Strife for U. S. Boys

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 27 (AP)—President Eisenhower sat down to Thanksgiving dinner with his family last night, expressed deep gratitude for his son's safe return from Korea, and voiced the fervent hope that American boys never have to go to war again.

"We are very, very thankful," the President said happily.

The dinner scene with a 39-pound turkey on the table was the trophy room of the Augusta National Golf Club.

With the President, carving knife in hand, were the first lady, their son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and the three grandchildren—David 5, Barbara Anne, 4, and Susan, 2.

Eisenhower wore the green jacket which denotes membership in the golf club, and a bright yellow tie with the club emblem—a map of the United States and a golf flag marking Augusta.

With Deep Feeling

News cameramen present reported the President spoke with deep feeling in declaring at the dinner table:

"America has countless things to be thanful for on this November 26. But I think most important is this:

"For the first Thanksgiving in the last four we sit down to the traditional Thanksgiving feast without the fear of the casualty list hanging over us.

"We no longer have to worry about the killing in Korea.

"Now, my wife and I are just exactly like many thousands of other families in America tonight.

"We have home our son (who returned from Korea last summer) and what is more important than that is that our grandchildren have home their daddy; our Barbie (John's wife) has her husband home.

'Very, Very Thankful'

"We are very, very thankful—and I am certain I speak for thousands and thousands of other families in America when I say: May we never again have to have our loved ones go off to war."

After the President's remarks the family was joined for dinner by a few old friends.

Besides turkey, the menu included oyster dressing, cranberry sauce, fruit cup, a salad, green vegetables and pumpkin pie.

John Eisenhower arrived during the afternoon from Ft. Benning, Ga., where he had an earlier turkey dinner with his troops. He commands the 1st Battalion of the 30th Infantry Regiment.

The President plans to return to Washington Sunday night.

Are Politically Displaced

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—More than half of Brooklyn's state legislators and city councilmen are reported to have become politically displaced persons because of the reapportionment bill passed by the Legislature at its recent special session. Here is the way the situation shapes up: At least five, and possibly six, of the borough's nine state senators are confronted with the choice of moving their homes or retiring from the Legislature.

Five Persons Dead In Air Crash in France

Paris, Nov. 27 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force C119 Flying Boxcar from Donaldson base at Greenville, S. C., crashed near Orly Field just outside Paris today, killing all five occupants.

The plane had flown from Greenville via the Azores on a ferrying mission en route to the Rhine-Main base near Frankfurt, Germany, air force officers at Orly Field said.

Those aboard included the pilot, co-pilot, radio operator, engineer and navigator. All five bodies were recovered.

Jenner Says Nine Are Under Study, Including Hiss

No Further Steps Planned Until There Is Exchange of Views

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—Sen. Jenner (R.-Ind.) today left the issue of questioning Igor Gouzenko up to Canadian and U. S. diplomats and pressed forward on other fronts in his Communists-in-government probe.

He issued a statement which said the Internal Security Subcommittee which he heads has nine former government employes, including Alger Hiss, "now under special scrutiny."

"The subcommittee is trying to determine who was responsible for their continued employment, which, in most cases, involved promotions, increased authority, continued access to government secrets, and increases in pay," the statement said last night.

No Further Steps

It was thus apparent Jenner plans no further steps until there is a fresh exchange of views between Secretary of State Dulles and Canadian Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson.

Jenner's subcommittee has asked and been rejected, then asked again for Canadian permission to question Gouzenko. The one-time Russian embassy code clerk, who put the finger on a big Canadian spy ring at Ottawa in 1945, is now a Canadian citizen living in police-guarded obscurity.

Canada has agreed to the Jenner subcommittee's second request provided (1) Gouzenko is willing to be interviewed, (2) the interview is confidential and under Canadian auspices and (3) the decision as to making public the information gleaned is left to Canada.

Jenner objected to the last condition, saying his committee could not promise it would keep from Congress—and hence the public—any "evidence vital to the security of the United States." He asked Dulles to try for a different arrangement.

Made 1945 Statement

Gouzenko, when he tipped off Canadian authorities in 1945, said the Red spy ring in Canada had contacts in the United States. The Canadian government says the United States has been kept fully informed and Gouzenko has nothing more to tell. Gouzenko says he might have some useful advice for the Jenner subcommittee.

One of the men named by Gouzenko, Fred Rose, has gone behind the Iron Curtain, leaving his wife and daughter in Canada. Rose, a naturalized Canadian

Car Involved in Fatal Accident

Schick automobile is photographed after crash in which three died. (Lipgar photo)

Accident Is 4 Miles West On Route 28

George D. Schick Is One of Victims — Car Hit Stone Wall, State Police Say

Three persons were killed and one was injured in an automobile accident four and a half miles west of Kingston on the Onteora Trail about 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

The dead:

George Daniel Schick, about 51, of 236 Smith avenue, Kingston.

Frank Dobie, Jr., 32, of 82 Carroll street, Poughkeepsie.

Charles Howard Arthur, 49, of 1129 East Philadelphia street, York, Pa.

Injured was Harvey Thompson Martin, 28, of 795 Conewago Avenue, York, Pa. His condition was reported as "fair" at Kingston Hospital this morning.

County Toll Is 22

The accident brings Ulster county's highway death toll for 1953 to 22, according to unofficial figures. It was the county's worst multiple-fatality traffic toll in several years. (Four Kingstonians were killed in an accident Oct. 4, this year, near Palenville, Greene county)

State police said the four men were the only occupants of an automobile that struck the rock wall on the south side of the highway and "apparently" turned over a number of times on the highway.

The car, a 1953 Plymouth four-door sedan was traveling east, toward Kingston, when the accident occurred, troopers said. It was owned by Schick, who was believed to be driving.

In Hunting Clothes

All four men were dressed in hunting clothes, the troopers reported.

Schultz and Kingston Hospital ambulances were summoned to convey the occupants to local hospitals.

Schick and Dobie were pronounced dead on arrival at the Kingston Hospital. Arthur was pronounced dead on arrival at the Benedictine Hospital.

Martin was admitted to Kingston Hospital for treatment of fractures of both legs and other possible injuries, troopers said.

Brandt Officially Announced as 7th Ward Alderman

War Ballot Count Leaves Him Winner by One; DePew Beats Frost in Denning

When war ballots were counted this morning at the office of the Ulster County Board of Elections, none were reported from the Seventh Ward, which means that Harry Brandt is the new alderman, having won by one vote over his Democratic opponent, Herbert Wolff.

There were six additional war ballots in the city, it was reported by the board of elections, and 21 in the county area.

Mayor-elect Frederick H. Stang received two additional votes and his Democratic opponent Gerald FitzGerald got three. This reduces the lead of Stang, a Republican, from 48 to 47 votes, it was announced officially.

Today Deadline

This morning was the last for receiving war ballots, and any received later will not be considered, it was said at the board.

When returns came in at police headquarters, Election night, Brandt had a four-vote lead over Wolff, 337-333, but a recount reduced the plurality to one. Since then political leaders and friends of both in the Seventh Ward were eager for the opening of the war ballots to see whether there would be any change.

Brandt will replace Alderman Thomas Coughlin in the Common Council, shifting the representation from Democratic to Republican.

Change in Denning

In the county there appears to have been one upset caused by the war ballots. In Denning Lewis DePew, Republican, apparently has been elected by one vote to the office of assessor for the four-year term. Prior to the counting of the war ballots today Albert Frost, Democrat, was leading by two votes. The three war ballots counted today were for DePew and his election by one vote appears certain.

Elsewhere in the county the results appear not to have been changed by the war ballots.

Says Defense Too Costly

Ottawa, Nov. 27 (AP)—Canadian Defense Minister Brooke Claxton says Canada and the United States can't afford a foolproof air defense system, even if one could be worked out. He told the House of Commons yesterday in a general review of Canada's defense measures that 'Russia some day may be in a position to deliver "so devastating" an attack that North American military strength, actual and potential, would be seriously crippled. Claxton told Commons no means had yet been found to guarantee that every attacking aircraft would be downed short of its target. And even if such could be found, he added, the combined resources of Canada and her southern neighbor wouldn't be able to pay for it.

Army Non-Com Admits Slaying

Saugerties Man Dies in New York

W. H. Smith, 36, Called Apparent Suicide by Police

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Police last night found William H. Smith, 36, 7 Ann street, Saugerties, strangled to death by his belt on the top stairway landing of a six-story Bronx apartment house.

Police termed the death an apparent suicide. They gave this account:

Smith with his wife and three children had been visiting his parents and his wife's parents in the apartment house at 570 E. 137th street, the Bronx. He excused himself from the family gathering after dinner.

A short time later a neighbor in the building heard noises on the landing leading to the building roof. She investigated and found Smith with his belt around his neck and the other end tied to the stairway railing.

Efforts Are Futile

Efforts to revive Smith with oxygen were futile and he was pronounced dead at Lincoln Hospital.

Smith's wife, Margaret, told police he had been depressed lately but she knew of no specific reason for suicide. She said her husband at one time had wanted to be a school teacher, and had been working currently at a shipyard in Kingston, N. Y.

Questionnaires Sent Out

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Fifteen-page questionnaires designed to bring out "everything" have been sent to all concessionaires at harness racing tracks in the state, a Moreland Act Commission spokesman said today. The commission, which is investigating alleged racketeering at the harness tracks, sent the questionnaires out Wednesday. Consisting of 36 questions, they are returnable Dec. 10. They were sent to 49 individuals, the commission said.

12,000 Are Endangered

Newark, N. J., Nov. 27 (AP)—Unknown persons tampered with valves of the strikebound Public Service Electric and Gas Co., endangering about 12,000 residents of two New Jersey towns early yesterday. Police described the acts—which affected the gas supply in Manville and Barrington—as sabotage. Valve turnoffs caused stove pilot lights to go out. Some were not relighted when the gas was turned back on.

Albany, Nov. 27 (AP) — Gov. Dewey is a candidate for re-election—as vestryman of St. Peter's Episcopal Church. The governor is one of three vestrymen up for re-election next Tuesday.

Sergeant Schick Says He Had No Intention to Kill

Tokyo, Saturday, Nov. 28 (AP)—The army said today a U. S. sergeant had confessed to the strangulation slaying of 9-year-old Susan Rothschild last Saturday.

The announcement identified him as Sgt. Maurice L. Schick, 29, chief ward master of the U. S. Army Hospital at Camp Zama.

The hospital is near the Sagamihara housing area where Susan's body, a gag stuffed in her mouth, was found in a drainage ditch by her army colonel father.

No Intention, He Says

Army authorities said Schick told them he had no intention of raping the girl and did not plan the murder before meeting her in a lightly populated area only two blocks from the home of her parents, Col. and Mrs. Jacquard Rothschild.

The brief army announcement said Schick confessed late last night.

Schick's home town and other details of his statement were not available immediately.

Laniel Is Given Vote of Confidence In Paris Assembly

Result Is Announced After Tension-Charged Day of Debating on Foreign Policy

Paris, Nov. 27 (AP) — Unofficial tallies today indicated that Premier Joseph Laniel had received a vote of confidence, by about 17 votes in the National Assembly.

The vote came at the end of a tension charged day in the National Assembly's debate on French foreign policy. The vote reflected reluctance to throw Laniel out of office on the eve of the Bermuda conference and just after Russia had offered to meet the western Big Three to discuss world tensions.

Early in the day it seemed that Laniel would have difficulty in getting approval from the deputies of his policy on European unity. Then at one point Foreign Minister Georges Bidault threatened to resign because he felt he had been slighted by the Premier.

At the afternoon session, however, the personal animosities faded as the deputies sought to give the outward appearance of harmony.

Newburgh Man, 27, Has Bad Day; He Also Is Arrested

A 27-year-old Newburgh resident was involved in a chain of events Wednesday night which included two accidents in one of which his car was demolished by fire; a severe laceration of the right eye for which he was treated at Vassar Hospital; his arrest and sentence on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

To top it off, a warrant charging him with assault, second degree, was filed by Newburgh police department at the court house to be served when he completes his jail term.

Troopers identified the man as Herman Johnson, 27, of 129 Smith street, Newburgh.

The official record of how Johnson spent Wednesday night begins with the report of a minor accident at Milton in which Johnson reportedly paid for some property damage caused by his automobile, and drove off. Trooper Elliott Johnson (no relation) after checking the accident, began to trail Herman Johnson because of reports that he was not in the proper condition to be driving, state police reported.

A few minutes later, at 7:50 p. m., Trooper Johnson found that Herman Johnson had become involved in an accident on Route 9W a mile south of Marlborough.

According to the trooper's report, Johnson's automobile had struck the rear of an automobile driven by John Lynn, 40, of Marlborough, and of another car driven by the Rev. David Keeler, 58, of Clintondale. The Lynn and Keeler cars had stopped in a line of traffic due to a tie-up caused by another accident, which occurred in Orange county.

As a result of the crash, Johnson's car caught fire, igniting the other two, troopers said.

The Marlborough Fire Department was summoned and extinguished the blaze, troopers said.

The automobiles of Johnson and the Rev. Mr. Keeler were totally demolished by fire, and the Lynn car received lesser damage, troopers reported.

Johnson and the Rev. Mr.

New Paltz Position Upheld In Gabrielli Tax Roll Case

In the first of a series of tax cases which have been brought against the town of New Paltz in Supreme Court, Justice MacAffer upheld the position of the town of New Paltz and denied the application of Helen Gabrielli by which she sought to have the 1953 tax roll of the town set aside and a new tax roll for 1953 instituted.

The action was one of several brought against Frederick C. Osterhoudt, Emory Jacobs and Edgar V. Beebe, assessors of the town of New Paltz. The application of the petitioner Helen Gabrielli, a property owner of the town, was argued before Justice Kenneth S. MacAffer at Albany special term on October 9. Gabrielli & Gabrielli of 149 Broadway, New York, appeared for petitioner and Peter H. Harp appeared for the respondent, town of New Paltz.

The New Paltz tax matter has come up several times in Supreme Court in Ulster county where several cases were pending.

Petitioner applied, pursuant to Article 78 of the Civil Practice Act, for an order vacating, annulling and setting aside as illegal the entire 1953 tax roll of the town of New Paltz and for a further order demanding the assessors prepare a new tax roll for 1953 of said district in accordance with section 8 of the Tax Law of the state.

The proceeding had been adjourned on the return date here in Ulster county and from time to time to the Albany term. During this period the respondents, the assessors, procured an order to show cause why the service and

Rhee, Kai-shek Conference Is Begun; May Join in Bloc

Taipeh, Formosa, Nov. 27 (AP)—Syngman Rhee and Chiang Kai-shek, two Asian leaders bonded in hatred of communism, today began a series of talks apparently aimed at tightening their unofficial alliance against the Reds.

The South Korean president flew secretly to this Nationalist Chinese fortress only two days after conferences with top U. S. officials in Korea.

Chiang and Rhee clasped hands warmly at the door of Rhee's borrowed transport, which belongs to Gen. John Hull, UN Far East commander.

Rhee said his trip was a friendly visit but added that "something may be brought up for discussion . . ."

The surprise visit started immediate speculation that the two nations—both ravaged by Red forces—may join in a new anti-Red bloc.

Observers here expected the talks would touch upon at least two key points:

1. The posssibility of Nationalist Chinese troops being sent to South Korea if the war is resumed.

2. The problem of what to do with some 14,600 anti-Red Chinese prisoners of war in Korea who are due to be freed as civilians in late January unless they choose to return to communism.

The meeting undoubtedly will draw a stream of attack from the Chinese Reds.

The plans were a well kept secret in both Korea and Formosa.

Rhee slipped from his capital of Seoul. The government announced

Burial will be in the family plot in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday and Sunday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Court Has Power

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Justice Department told the Supreme Court today the court is fully empowered to strike down racial segregation in public schools. In response to an invitation of the court, where five school segregation cases are pending, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell and his chief aides filed a brief asserting that the 14th Amendment to the Constitution "compels a state to grant the benefits of public education to all its people equally, without regard to differences of race or color." The brief said the question is not "whether there is equality as between schools," adding: "The Constitution requires that there be equality as between persons."

Report Is Given

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 27 (AP)—The New Haven Railroad's October financial report today showed a total net income, after sinking funds and income taxes of $441,182. The figure for a similar period last year was $795,313. Total net income for the first 10 months of 1953 was reported as $3,746,424 compared with $3,637,915 last year. Rail expenses last month included approximately $300,000, the New Haven Railroad officials explained, caused by derailments at Beacon Falls and East Walden, N. Y.

Agency to Continue

United Nations, Nov. 27 (AP)—The UN General Assembly voted without opposition today to extend the life of the Palestine Refugee Agency until June 30, 1955. The five Soviet bloc countries abstained. The assembly also authorized the agency, known officially as the United Nations Relief and Works Agency for Palestine Refugees, to adopt a budget of $24,800,000 for the year ending June 30, 1954.

Advises Fare Raise

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP) — An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner said today the intrastate commutation fares on the Long Island Rail Road should be advanced about 25 per cent. Examiner Charles B. Gray reported to the ICC that the Long Island passenger fare structure creates a burden on interstate commerce, requiring adjustment.

Benson Aides Accused

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—Sen. Beall (R-Md.) charged today that some aides of Secretary of Agriculture Benson have been "ghost writing" speeches unfairly attacking Benson's handling of farm problems. Beall told a reporter a quiet inquiry is being made into what he said is "good evidence" that some Democratic holdover policy makers in the Department of Agriculture have written such speeches and slipped them to Democrats for delivery. These employes and others, Beall said, also have supplied ideas and material to be worked into the texts of public addresses criticizing Benson.

More Arrests Expected

Boston, Nov. 27 (AP)—A federal official said today the Federal Bureau of Investigation expects to make more arrests in the $681,700 robbery from a parked armored car in Danvers 20 months ago. Asst. U. S. Atty. Edward D. Hassan said the FBI "seemed to know who they were looking for and they told me they expected to make more arrests soon." The FBI refused to comment. Arrested Wednesday night were George D. O'Brien, 43, an ex-convict; his wife, Margaret, 42, mother of three children; and their son, George Jr., 19, a third-year student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Rocket Ships for Defense

London, Nov. 27 (AP)—A semi-official Royal Air Force magazine said today piloted rocket ships launched straight up from the ground will form a part of Britain's future defenses against atomic bombing. The magazine Flying Review, said the stubby-winged rockets will hit 1,500 miles an hour and will be able to reach a bomber flying at 50,000 feet in less than a minute.

Says Oil Turned In

Police were notified Wednesday by a representative of Robert Express that the barrel of oil, which that company had reported taken from Delaware avenue and Murray street Monday, had been located. The oil was turned in to the Esso Oil Co., the report said. Police were told Monday that someone had put the barrel in a car and drove away with it.

Will Give Out Booklet

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Forty-eight thousand copies of a booklet citing reasons why Communists should be barred from teaching will be distributed to New York city public and parochial schools and college faculties. Hamilton A. Long, retired New York city attorney, wrote the 47-page handbook entitled "Permit Communist Conspirators to be Teachers?" Long announced yesterday that the board of education had decided to circulate the booklet, published previously by the government printing office in Washington. Dr. William Jansen, superintendent of schools, said the 40,000 copies needed for the public schools would cost about $2,000. He said the sum would be paid from public funds. Long said 4,000 copies for parochial schools and another 4,000 for college faculties would be paid for by a private donor, not identified.

Henri Bernstein Dies

Paris, Nov. 27 (AP)—Henri Bernstein, leading figure in the French theatre and political life for half a century, died today in a hospital following an operation. He was 77. Since the presentation of his first play—"Le Marche"—in 1900, Bernstein has had his works translated and produced throughout Europe and in America. He wrote one play in English, "Rose Burke," which was produced in San Francisco in 1942 with Katherine Cornell as the leading lady.

Thinks Allies to Agree

Panmunjom, Nov. 27 (AP)—U. S. Envoy Arthur Dean indicated today that the allies will agree to Red demands that neutral observers be invited to a Korean peace conference—if Russia attends as a Communist belligerent. Dean stressed that non-belligerent observers would have a voice but no vote.

Snow Is Forecast

New York, Nov. 27 (AP) — The Weather Bureau forecast snow would begin falling in the metropolitan area this afternoon and probably would accumulate to a depth of three inches. The storm will begin about 4 p. m., the bureau said, and continue for seven or eight hours probably clearing after midnight.

Mackenzie Is Ill

Norwalk, Conn., Nov. 27 (AP)—DeWitt Mackenzie, retired Associated Press foreign correspondent, is a patient at Norwalk hospital where his condition is described as serious. Mackenzie, who spent 40 years with the Associated Press as a foreign correspondent and columnist before his retirement two years ago at the age of 63, was stricken ill yesterday morning at his home in nearby Weston. A spokesman for the family said today that the nature of his illness is undetermined, and that X-rays are to be taken today.

Cardinal Is Transferred

Vatican City, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Vatican radio reported today that Cardinal Stefan Wyszynski of Poland has been transferred in secret to a Moscow jail to await "typical Communist trial." The radio, quoting information from Vienna, said the cardinal is locked in a Lubianka prison cell near that of Lavrenty P. Beria, ousted ex-chief of Soviet internal security. Polish authorities announced two months ago that Cardinal Wyszynski, archbishop of Warsaw and Gneisen, had been seized in his Warsaw residence and taken to a monastery. Until today, the Vatican has said it had received no further word about him.

J. W. Brooks Killed

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Joseph W. Brooks, 62, an insurance man and sportsman, was killed in his Park avenue apartment today by a revolver shot which, police said, apparently was self inflicted. He was the former husband of Alicia Patterson, publisher of the newspaper, Newsday, of Garden City, L. I. Dr. Louis F. Bishop, a close friend of Brooks, discovered the body.

Writes He Killed Woman

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—A man was found dead, hanging from a tree in Central Park today, with a note in his pocket saying he had killed a woman. Police tentatively identified him as Niener Perez, 50, of Harlem. They said the note, written in Spanish, named the woman as Alice Rodriquez, but gave no address. They began a search for her.

Three Men Killed

Kingston issued verdicts of accidental deaths. No autopsy was ordered in any of the three cases.

Injuries Are Cited

McCardle said Schick's fatal injuries included fractured ribs, fractured skull, depressed sternum, head lacerations and lacerations of the right eye.

Dobie suffered a fractured skull, and head lacerations, McCardle said, and Arthur had a skull fracture, depressed chest and lacerations of the head.

The accident occurred on the Onteora Trail (Route 28) between Brattain's at West Hurley and the top of the hill toward the east.

Troopers Joseph Cullen and Lawrence Manney of the Kingston state police station investigated with Coroner McCardle.

State police said Dobie was Schick's son-in-law and Arthur's wife is a sister of Mrs. Schick. They were spending Thanksgiving with the Schick's, and Martin, a friend, had accompanied the Arthurs from Pennsylvania.

The bodies were removed to the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street.

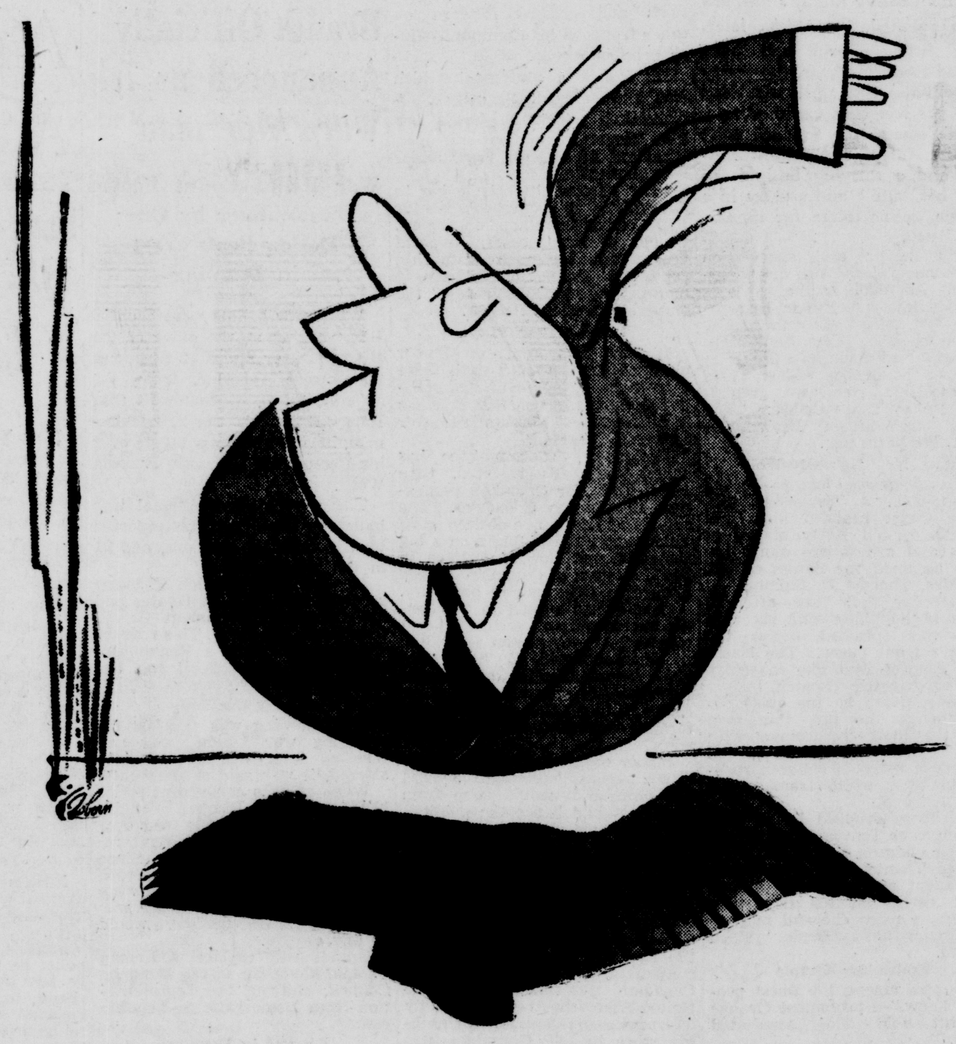
Strike Plagues Motorists

Philadelphia, Nov. 27 (AP)—City officials continued today efforts to negotiate settlement of a strike that has caused a man size traffic headache in the Quaker City over the Thanksgiving holiday weekend. With a heavy Penn-Cornell football game crowd in town yesterday and prospects of an even greater influx of visitors for tomorrow's Army-Navy classic at Municipal Stadium, attendants of nearly all the downtown parking lots are on strike. The Sley System and Racquet Garage Corp. operate 63 midcity parking lots and garages. Police Commissioner Thomas Gibbons said the two handle between 12,000 and 15,000 cars on a normal weekday.

No. 3 in a series of RARE CREATURES:



THE ONE-WING BOASTY BIRD can't make headway with one wing tied, but still he wants to keep trying

A BOASTY BIRD is an advertiser who purposely flies in the face of experience — even though he knows it's harder that way.

He'd rather climb stairs on his hands and knees than take a comfortable ride in an elevator.

And he'd rather use an advertising method that might succeed in place of a method that doesn't fail.

Fortunately he's a rare creature.

The advertising that always does its job, of course, is newspaper advertising. It's basic.

Very few manufacturers or advertisers, for example, would even dream of trying to introduce a new product without using newspapers. Because only the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town . . . regularly . . . day in and day out.

And today more people are reading more newspapers than at any time in history.

No wonder it's basic for advertisers!

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers!

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., Nov. 29—Panicky readers disturbed by the increasing number of business failures have asked me if business conditions are not likely to take a sharp drop by 1954. Here is what I think.

The months to come will separate the men from the boys in business. Right now, when we are supposed to be booming along, companies are dying at the rate of 700 a month. The approximately 7,500 business failures since the first of the year have involved dollar liabilities far in excess of any period since the depression.

Too many inefficient business operators have been swept to prosperity by the business currents of strong demand rather than by their own business acumen. I perdict that many more of these would-be entrepreneurs will be severely squeezed unless they wake up, cut expenses, and get hard at work. In general, this will be good for our economy, which needs to eliminate those who have given the poorest service, the shoddiest products, and gone after the fast buck.

Study These Figures

Some of my critics say I am too pessimistic. They point out that 67 per cent of our homes are more than 20 years old, that there has been a tremendous shift from farm to suburbs, and that an entirely new way of living and lots of new wants have been created. They remind me that the number of children in our population has increased 65 per cent since 1940, and that we have 80 per cent more high-school graduates in our adult population since 1940 who presumably have much more highly developed wants than the non-high-school graduates. Some say such factors as these are dynamic enough to hold our economy high.

Against the argument that we have more people with more education and with more discretionary buying power than ever before, are such realities as these: Through the early months of 1953, shoe production was about seven million pairs ahead of potential consumption, and the industry could easily have produced 35% more shoes if they could have been sold. Or, take the automobile industry. At midyear, 47% more cars had been turned out than in the same period in 1952. But sales rose only 33%. Recent cutbacks and intensive selling have temporarily reduced this spread. But let us face the facts: The government has cut defense programs; inventories have been stockpiling; industrial expansion has passed its peak; industrial building is on the decline. What is to happen to private building I will discuss later.

Better Selling and Investing Are Needed

American business cannot stand still. It moves either forward or backward. To move forward, it must sell. When it stops selling, it dies. Sales have slumped because salesmen have become lazy and sales clerks indifferent. Lots of people still need lots of things; but price levels may be too high. I believe the time has come for reappraisal of potential markets and profit margins. A spiritual rebirth by employers and wage-workers is needed. This may mean only "deluxe models" instead of "super-deluxe models"! It will mean much greater manufacturing efficiency a cutback in material waste, and an increase in per-man output.

While we are learning to do these things we must expect a readjustment in business activity. Among those industries that will feel the pinch first are automobile, building, steel, and nonferrous metals. But while manufacturers are readjustiong to peacetime demands there will be strong sustaining forces that will hold the economy strong, such as the tremendous developing demand of the World War 2 baby crop, a heavy supply of savings, and a credit base still capable of considerable expansion. The greatest hope of continued good business lies with the ten or more billion dollars likely to be spent for the defense of our large cities.

Hunter Is Dead Of Heart Ailment

Stamford, Nov. 27 (AP)—Conrad Hilliker, 55, of East Northport, L. I., died of a heart attack yesterday while hunting deer in a heavily wooded Catskill mountain area southeast of here.

Hilliker's body was found last night by a party of volunteer searchers led by state police. The search was organized after Hilliker's companion, Otto Moekel of (32-56 41st street), Astoria, reported him missing. Moekel said he and Hilliker entered the woods late yesterday afternoon near the village of Grand Gorge. At dusk, Moekel said, he returned to their automobile but Hilliker failed to show up.

Dr. E. A. Tepser of Grand Gorge, a coroner's physician, said Hilliker had suffered a heart attack.

Flood Potential

Enough water is locked up in the ice of the earth's polar regions to raise the world's sea level about 150 feet. This would destroy most of Holland, flood the lower Mississippi valley, and ruin every harbor in the world.

Half World's Output

The Twentieth Century Fund estimates that the United States and Canada produced about half the world's industrial output in 1947.

Daylight Saver

Though daylight saving time was not adopted until World War 1, Benjamin Franklin, in 1784, urged a similar proposal on the French people to conserve the tallow and enjoy more daylight, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

QUESTIONS UNANSWERED

One can't help hoping that former President Truman has not made his final presentation for the record in the Harry Dexter White case.

For one thing, in his speech of explanation the other night, which partook of the old "whistle-stop" flavor in its more vehement passages, he said a good many things about his handling of the case. Since then, Attorney General Brownell and FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover have contradicted him on major points.

But Brownell and Hoover were speaking under oath before a Senate committee and Mr. Truman was merely making a radio-TV appearance. It is a pity that he cannot find a way to place his statement on the same plane. Perhaps he could volunteer a deposition—a sworn statement—for submission to the Senate, or at least for general public circulation.

If he should decide to do this, he might well enlarge and clarify his responses on certain parts of the story. These are some of the questions that seem left unanswered by his own and others' statements:

Did Mr. Truman himself ever actually read the first FBI report, delivered to him on Dec. 4, 1945? He does not say he did, and implied in his speech either that he did not, or did not remember anything in it.

When, exactly, did he read the second FBI report, delivered to the White House on Feb. 4, 1946? He says he "first learned" of the charges against White "early in February." Did he read the report promptly, or wait a day or so?

If he did read it shortly after receipt, why did he not take the quick, precautionary step of telling Senate leaders to hold up White's confirmation to a new government post? That would have given him time to study the problem leisurely and thoroughly.

Why did Mr. Truman imply so strongly that the late Justice Vinson, then Secretary of the Treasury, had supported his decision to retain White?

Mr. Truman waxed indignant that Brownell seemed to be indirectly assailing a dead man. But if Hoover's statement was accurate, then Mr. Truman did Vinson no service. For Hoover said Vinson wanted to fire White as soon as he learned the gravity of the charges against him.

Why, if the plan to keep White on the job was consistent with security, did the former President appear to take no precautions whatsoever to stop the flow of vital information through the hands of White and other suspects?

Hoover said Mr. Truman wanted White surrounded by safe people. Why, then, did he not interpose objection when two prime suspects were named to the International Monetary Fund where White was operating?

Did the former President believe no real case could be made against White as a security risk unless he could be indicted in a court of law? At many points Mr. Truman sounds as if he thought White had to be left alone until he was caught red-handed.

Did Mr. Truman have any feeling that even if the charges were true, it didn't really matter, since Russia had been our wartime ally and was still "friendly"? He seems to have come slowly to the idea there might be any real peril in the reported passing of secret information to the Soviet Union.

Jimmy Dykes, released as manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, will receive $10,000 for not managing that team next year. We would be glad not to manage that team for half the money Dykes will get.

FACTS AND PROMISES

Next year Uncle Sam may be eight or nine billion dollars in the red. This is no prediction by a political opponent, but is the estimate of Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey. Contrary to a popular opinion expressed in last year's campaign, there is little prospect of cutting expenses enough further to do much good.

If this is true, only one course remains, to raise taxes. The proposed 10 per cent cut in the income tax, to take effect next year, will have to be withdrawn, or extra taxes levied to make good the loss in revenue.

Secretary Humphrey is a realist. His blunt utterance of unpleasant truths is comparatively new in official circles. Congress might imitate him with profit.

Swallowing false pride never produces indigestion.

MORE ON MONEY

In the business world, committees are being organized and meetings are being held to consider the question of either lowering or abolishing the American tariff. The Randall Commission, appointed by the President, is now making investigations in Europe and will come up with recommendations.

What is desired is the establishment of a free market in goods, but Bernard Baruch insists that this will not solve the problem. His idea is:

"I think the first thing that you should do would be to recommend a free market in currencies of the world, so that if a man gets pesetas, or he gets francs, or dollars, or pounds, or whatever currency the Chinese and Japanese have, he can immediately turn it into a currency which he desires for the purpose of his trade. I think that is the first thing that has got to be done."

This, it appears to me, is sound advice because if money is no good, that is, unacceptable, trade will die on the vine. Furthermore, any question of world trade has to be answered in the climate of war or peace. When no one can determine from the facts whether we are living in a period of war or peace—"cold war," it is euphemistically called—it is impossible to decide whether there should be high or low tariffs or any at all, since, in our era, trade can be a weapon of war.

Baruch makes the point that most people who are excited over this question are in a terrific hurry to do too much too rapidly. What is needed, in this extremely sensitive field of human endeavor is to go step by step; otherwise, great damage might be done. For instance, the British, who are most energetic in their demand that the American tariffs be reduced or abolished, have actually raised their tariffs and pursue a policy of imperial preference aimed at the reduction of American trade within the British Commonwealth. Also by the manipulation of the value of currencies, tariffs can actually be raised while giving the appearance of reduction.

Therefore, the first task is not to reduce tariffs, which may mean nothing, but to establish a free market for currencies. The attempt at this moment to stabilize currencies or to re-establish gold could be premature. A stabilization fund would only invite a demand that the United States put up all the money in one way or another. It would be better to let the currencies reach their own levels in a free market before any attempt is made either to use a stabilization fund or to restore the gold standard. It is soundest to go one step at a time.

It is now moving toward nine years since World War II ended and not only are the economics of the world dislocated but the burden still falls heavily on the United States. How long this country can carry that burden, no one can say, but this much is clear: the Eisenhower Administration, which set out to balance the budget, restore the value of American currency and reduce taxes, has been able to do none of these because of faulty economics in other countries. Certainly during the eight post-war years, the European nations should have been able to do more for themselves, particularly in freeing their currencies from wartime controls and their trade from wartime impediments.

In connection with this general discussion, it is interesting to note that as early as July, 1939, Baruch suggested to President Roosevelt that the United States refuse to buy gold from any country with which this country could not develop cooperative relations. Had this advise then been followed, Japan could not possibly have financed the war that ensued.

Soviet Russia is now exporting quantities of gold. The actual Russian hoard of gold is not known because the metal is constantly being mined but not accurately reported. There is considerable evidence that Russia has been selling in Europe in the free market. It is possible that the object of Russian gold sales is to increase the use of consumers' goods without impairing the current Five-Year Plan, which is devoted to war production.

In a word, Russian imperialism is developing economic weapons to strengthen herself and to weaken our position. The question is whether the Randall Commission is facing the problem realistically.

EMOTIONAL FACTORS IN SKIN DISEASE

Some weeks ago I wrote on the current joke about physicians who, when they did not know the name of an ailment, blamed it on the nerves. The jokesmith stated that in such a situation the physician formerly had blamed the condition on the teeth.

As a matter of fact, physicians today have been able to trace skin eruptions to the nerves, also many cases of asthma.

It will be of interest to laymen, particularly those with skin eruptions, to learn that disturbance of the nerves, emotional disturbances, are so well recognized as a cause of skin eruptions that a psychiatrist, a specialist in psychiatry (emotional disturbances) and a dermatologist (a skin specialist) have written a book entitled "Emotional Factors in Skin Disease." Dr. Eric Wittkrower, Assistant psychiatrist, McGill University, Montreal, and Dr. Brian Russell, Skin Department, London Hospital, England, are the authors.

This unusual new book combines the skill of the dermatologist and the psychiatrist in an effort to clarify the interrelationship of emotional disturbance and skin disease.

Based on wide experience and illuminated with case histories, the material presented will prove helpful in both diagnosis and treatment.

Many have the opinion that the skin is just a bag, or covering, for the organs of the body, but it is in every sense an important organ of the body, registering the emotions, controlling temperature of the blood and tissues; it combines with the kidneys and lungs in the important process of ridding the blood of waste and harmful materials; it serves as a waterproof covering to prevent loss of body fluid; is sensitive to heat, cold and the various food and pollen allergies. "Through the sensation of pain, it notifies the brain of any injury to the body."

For years physicians have been reporting the appearance and disappearance of warts due to some emotional disturbance or disturbances.

It is at the most "emotional" period in the life of the growing boy and girl that that distressing ailment, acne (pimples), occurs.

With the publication of this book showing how directly and indirectly the emotions cause skin eruptions and diseases, the physician has one more asset in his equipment with which to recognize and treat disturbances of the skin.

"Comical People, These Americans, What?"

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington (NEA)—Some of the new farm plans now being considered by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson are almost as hard to understand as the Brannan plan. Thus far, the Republican farm planners seem convinced that there is no one plan, like the Brannan plan, that would take care of all crops.

So a variety of plans, a different plan for each crop, is being considered. They include a two-price plan for wheat—one price for domestic wheat and another for export wheat.

John H. Davis, former president of the Wool Marketing Association, now an assistant secretary of agriculture, has been working on a modification of the Sugar Act to fit the wool situation. It would meet U. S. wool requirements by allocating domestic production and import quotas.

To control the potato surplus, a recommendation has been made to the administration that the old Warren act of 1935 be dusted off. This plan was thrown out by former Secretary Henry Wallace, who didn't like it, after the original AAA act was declared unconstitutional. It provided for a system of marketing tags, printed tax free but bought from the Treasury by potato growers at 75 cents a hundredweight for licensed production. These marketing tags were made negotiable from one producer to another, at free market prices.

Corn Crop Is to Be Controlled

A brand-new idea has been given tentative approval for the corn crop, but it has corn growers puzzled. The general fear of those to whom the plan has been explained is that it would tend to force down support price levels. The workings are roughly this:

At the beginning of each crop year, before planting time, the department would announce the level of production needed in the light of existing carryover. The idea would be to determine how much corn could be sold at 100 per cent of parity.

The level of support prices would not be announced, however, until Oct. 1, the beginning of the harvest. At this time the amount of corn to be fed to cattle and hogs would be added to the amounts going into manufacturing and export. This would be the immediate requirement. To this would be added an amount for carryover sufficient to care for an average crop failure. Together, these would be total requirements.

If this amount balanced the total corn production for the year, the farmer would get a support price equal to 100 per cent of parity. For each one per cent the crop exceeded requirements, the support price would be dropped one per cent. If the crop were 10 per cent over requirements, the support price would be 90 per cent of parity, but the support price would never be below 75 per cent of parity.

This is described as an income support plan, but it is said to be not the Brannan plan, which was also an income support plan. The new plan has been approved by Secretary Benson's Corn Advisory Committee.

Wheat Plan Is Tricky

The two-price plan for wheat is just as tricky as the corn plan, but different. Under its operation, all wheat would be sold at free market prices. At the beginning of each crop year, the amount of wheat going into domestic use and the amount going into export would be calculated.

Each of the two million U. S. wheat growers would then get a certificate for his half of the wheat used in the U. S. The value of these certificates, per bushel, would be announced by the Secretary of Agriculture at the beginning of each crop year.

If the new level parity price of wheat was $2.10 and the average market price was $1.65, the certificate would be worth 45 cents a bushel, for that portion of the crop used for U. S. food.

The money to pay for these certificates would come from milling certificates bought by flour millers from the government, for all wheat used to make flour for the domestic market.

Under this plan, the farmer would get the full parity for his share of the wheat that went into bread. This would tend to keep up the price of bread to the consumer.

The advantage of the plan is said to be that it would take the government out of the business of owning, storing and selling wheat. The plan has had the approval of Secretary Benson's Wheat Industry Advisory committee.

Why We Say--

This word is usually associated with music in modern times. Oddly enough, it started with carpentry in Greece. The word is derived from the Greek "harmozen"—for fit together. Making exact fittings was considered the primary rule of carpentry. In its present musical usage harmony still retains the original meaning since it refers to a type of music which "fits" together.

Nixon Statement Is Oversimplification of Problem; Letter Is Cited

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 27 — What Vice President Nixon said in Tokyo the other day about the United States having made a "mistake" in disarming Japan—a statement now concurred in by the secretary of state, John Foster Dulles—is an oversimplification of a complex problem. There are good grounds for the belief that it wasn't a mistake at all but a very desirable step, provided a distinction is made between arming for offense, and warding off an invader by proper defense. Actually the United States never urged disarmament below the point of adequate defense.

This correspondent has just received a letter from a high American officer familiar with what happened in Japan under the Allied occupation. He was especially acquainted with the day-by-day application of Allied policy in disarming Japan. He says:

"Running all the way through the basic policies enjoined upon General MacArthur in his administration of Japan was the requirement, never abrogated or modified, contained in his initial post-surrender directive of November 3, 1945, from the United States government, later specifically adopted as Allied policy by the Far Eastern Commission, that he 'seize, or destroy all arms, ammunition, naval vessels, and implements of war, including aircraft designed for civil use, and stop the production thereof . . . and take necessary steps to destroy the Japanese war potential. . . .'

"Apart from the specific requirements laid upon him, it was fundamental to General MacArthur's own guiding policy to encourage the Japanese leaders and people to move toward the achievement of Allied purposes and objectives upon their own initiative and responsibility. This was done for the well-understandable reason that change and reform in Japanese political, economic and social institutions, long harnessed by tradition built upon myths and legends, would find greater durability if not directly chained to the 'stigma' of Allied force and compulsion.

"Thus, when revision of the Japanese constitution was under study, it was cause for satisfaction when the then Prime Minister Shidehara called upon General MacArthur to advance and discuss the idea (for which he later took full credit in his memoirs 'Fifty Years in the Diplomatic Service') that Japan's war-making power be curbed by specific constitutional prescription. Consequently there is no basis for the implication that America made a mistake or that General MacArthur enforced the constitutional provision upon Japan.

"Quite the contrary, after the adoption of the new constitution, MacArthur repeatedly sought publicly to secure a moderate interpretation for the provision abolishing war, by declaring that it could not and should not be construed as denying the Japanese people the 'inalienable right of self-defense against unprovoked attack,' and he personally directed the organization and training of a four Japanese division defense force, equipped with a full complement of tanks and artillery, when compelled to remove the American divisions from Japan for service in Korea. He made clear that this was but the initial increment of a long-range plan for an ultimate strength of ten divisions which he felt might be necessary to curb any Soviet-inspired internal disorders or casual invasion of Japanese territory.

"Apart from all this, MacArthur fully supported Japan's constitutional renunciation of war upon the practical premises that, even geared to its maximum potential, the Japanese economy would never be able to supply and service and replace the implements of modern war, and that a Japan rearmed to fulfill the obligations of military alliance would only invite the suspicions of neighbors still bearing the scars and memories of Japan's latest adventure in conquest and invite also the open hostility of the Communists.

"Even in peace, Japan's survival can only rest upon a sound and healthy industrial economy, as its full agricultural potential will never produce the food essential to sustain life, and its complete lack of indigenous raw resources (Japan has no iron, no copper, no rubber, no manganese, no chrome, no nickel, no tin, no zinc, no cotton, no oil, and no hard coal within its boundaries) renders its industrial plants entirely dependent upon good will and confidence in those areas abroad, particularly in Asia, whence such raw resources must be obtained—a good will and confidence always tempered, indeed threatened, by the realization that Japan's population pressures, rapidly increasing within the narrow confines of the four main islands, might well explode into new aggressions abroad were Japan given the essential military capability to dominate less powerful neighbors. A Japan engaged in global war between the east and west, whether on the side of victor or vanquished, could not fail, because of its geographical location, to be ravaged and destroyed.

"General MacArthur never seriously considered the Soviet Union as a potential threat to Japan unless and until Japan might become Sovietized through infiltration and internal pressures, an eventuality not now foreseeable. He reasoned that the seizure of Japan by conquest would give the Soviet but a doubtful victory as, unlike Germany with its vast indigenous supplies, Japan's industrial base would remain operational from day to day only in the event of the uninterrupted flow of raw materials from abroad. We ourselves demonstrated how it ground to a stop when we cut Japan's industrial offshore lifelines and converted its industrial base from an asset into a liability. The Soviet will not chance assuming such a liability.

"Precisely for this reason the Soviet doubtless failed to take advantage of the opportunity—its great opportunity—to take over Japan when we moved our occupation troops to Korea. From that time practically all of our military resources became employed beyond the possibility of disengagement, and the Soviet, as one of the allied powers, legally co-equal in responsibility and authority with the United States, might have moved its forces in to fill the military vacuum left by our departure. What could we have done to counter such an eventuality? What would any of our allies have done? Obviously nothing. But the Soviet had no interest in the assumption of the responsibility attendant upon such a move. The much over-emphasized power of Japan's industrial base was too vulnerable to the retaliation of blockade and the Soviet knew it."

The foregoing doctrine would have been of great value in formulating what should be said now with reference to the alleged "mistake" to be impressed upon the peoples of Asia. For the United States never at any time favored disarmament of Japan below the point of national safety, and as to armament for offensive war, the United States will oppose that point of view, not only for other nations, but for itself. It may turn out to have been a mistake to charge ourselves with a "mistake" in relation to our disarmament of Japan.

Both to Be Issues

Washington, Nov. 26 — Both "McCarthyism" and "Trumanism" will be issues in the 1954 Congressional campaigns—but not always as between the Republican and Democratic parties. The issues will arise between Republican candidates contesting in their primaries and between Democratic candidates contesting in their primaries. On the outcome of the primaries will depend whether either issue gets into the final campaign.

Any idea that all Democrats will line up to defend "Trumanism" and that all Republicans will defend "McCarthyism" may be dispelled now. For anyone familiar with Congressional elections knows that such matters are usually local rather than national and that the importance of an issue is related to the kind of constituency involved.

Thus, Senator Saltonstall, Republican, who is up for re-election in Massachusetts next year, has just been quoted as saying "subversion in government" would be an issue in the elections in his state. In Massachusetts there has been a deep-seated belief that Communists in government have been treated too gently. This might not be true in other states where neither candidate may raise the issue at all.

There is room for difference of opinion as to how these issues will develop, but past experience shows that neither party as such will take a stand committing its candidates for Congress.

"Trumanism" will, of course, be an issue made wherever the congressional candidate is faced with the cry that "McCarthyism" has been embraced by the Eisenhower administration, as charged by former President Truman in his radio-television speech of November 16.

It is interesting to note that President Eisenhower told his press conference the other day that he didn't know just what the term "McCarthyism" really means. Mr. Truman in his speech a week ago, however, defined it this way:

"It is now evident that the present administration has fully embraced, for political advantage, McCarthyism. I am not referring to the senator from Wisconsin—he is only important in that his name has taken on a dictionary meaning in the world. It is the corruption of truth, the abandonment of our historical devotion to fair play. It is the abandonment of the 'due process' of law. It is the use of the big lie and the unfounded accusation against any citizen in the name of Americanism or security. It is the rise to power of the demagogue who lives on untruth; it is the spread of fear and the destruction of faith in every level of our society."

Now, Senator McCarthy in his rejoinder not only says the definition given by Mr. Truman corresponds with that proclaimed by the Communist party organ — the "Daily Worker," which he says coined the phrase "McCarthyism"—but he goes on to give this definition of "Trumanism":

"'Trumanism' can perhaps best be defined as the placing of your political party above the interest of the country, regardless of how much the country is damaged thereby. It is the theory that no matter how great the wrong, it is right if it helps your political party. 'Trumanism' in effect says to the head of a household that if you catch a criminal looting your safe, kidnapping your children and attacking your wife, do not dare turn the spotlight on him, or get rough with him, or call for the police, because if you do, the criminial will have you arrested for disturbing the peace."

"Trumanism" will be an issue in the campaign because it represents an attempt by the executive in 1952 to sieze the properties of American industry without any constitutional sanction of law and because it represents an abuse of public authority in giving special privileges to a group of favored citizens, especially in tax fixing

Law Is Explained About GI Courses

Nearly every school in the nation training veterans under the Korean GI Bill has been living up to the letter of the law, F. William Sheehan, officer in charge, Veterans Administration, 286 Fair street, said today. Those few that haven't, Sheehan added, will be given every chance to correct deficiencies before action will be taken to stop the GI allowances of veteran trainees, as VA is required to do by law.

In announcing the steps to be taken in dealing with such schools, Sheehan said the procedure has been designed to protect the interests of the veteran, the school, and the government.

The law contains two major safeguards against abuse, Sheehan explained. One of them is authority for VA to discontinue the allowances of veterans training in schools that fail to meet, or that violate, any of the provisions of the Korean GI Bill.

The other calls for the state to withdraw its approval from courses that fall short of the standards they had to meet in order to be approved originally.

If the state disapproves a course, VA will have no alternative but to stop the GI allowances of veterans who have enrolled in it. In this case, however, the allowances won't be stopped until VA receives notice of disapproval, or until the effective date of that disapproval, whichever is later.

If the conditions have been remedied, veteran-trainees, of course, will continue to receive their monthly payments.

One of the nice things about the national championships in Dallas is that they will give the rest of the country a good chance to become acquainted with the fine bidding and play of some of the Dallas experts who don't travel widely to national tournaments.

I could give many examples, because Texas is as fruitful in producing bridge stars as it is in everything else, but perhaps I can make my point by showing a hand that George Heath, of Dallas, defended in a recent Texas tournament.

George opened his singleton club from the West hand. Dummy won with the ace of clubs and returned the king of diamonds. East took the ace of diamonds and cashed the queen of clubs. What should West discard, and how should West plan the rest of the defense?

Heath discarded a low spade from the West hand. East continued with another high club, and South ruffed with the king of hearts. West discarded a second low spade, refusing to over-ruff.

South cashed the queen of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in the dummy, and led the nine of hearts. Once more Heath came up with a key play by refusing to take the trick.

Hoping for the best, declarer led dummy's remaining trump, playing the ten from his own hand. This time West took the trick. And now he could lead his carefully-preserved last diamond to make South ruff for the second time. This second ruff brought South down to one trump less than West, and West was therefore sure to take the setting trick with his long trump.

It wasn't a spectacular hand, but it was very praiseworthy nevertheless. Heath had to discard spades rather than diamonds, had to refuse to over-ruff, and had to refuse to take his ace of trump until dummy's last trump was led. This is the bridge style for which Texas is famous all over the country.

A family birthday party was held in honor of R. Allen Carle, at the home of his parents Monday night.

Landlady Given Car

Norman, Okla. (AP)—The tradition of giving a flashy new auto to a successful coach has become well established in this home of the University of Oklahoma. But Miss Hettie Loar, who runs a rooming house, also has one. Miss Hettie has helped more than 600 Oklahoma students through school in the last 21 years by the jobs she provided. During a homecoming party for her former residents, about 40 of her "old boys" gave her a corsage. Tied with ribbon to the flowers was the key to a shiny new car—sitting at the curb outside.

When coots share a pond with ducks, they often are used as scouts by the ducks to warn of danger.

CONSTIPATED?

Here's happy news for constipation sufferers from James J. Driscoll, 2nd of Connellsville, Pa.

"I never imagined I could get such blessed, fast relief from constipation as I do now. I used to suffer terribly from constipation —go most of the day before I got any sort of relief.

"But that was before I learned about Sal Hepatica's gentle, speedy action. It's wonderful. If I take it before breakfast, I get relief usually within an hour!"

Yes, take sparkling Sal Hepatica before breakfast and feel fine again . . . usually within an hour. Or, take it in the evening one-half hour before supper and feel fine again by bedtime! Sweetens sour stomach, too! So keep Sal Hepatica handy in your medicine chest.

Unlikely Father, Unlikely Son

Last night I heard an interesting story about father love from the bluish lips of Jake Perazza, president of the Tompkins Square Social Club on Avenue A....

The father, according to Jake, is one of the sleaziest citizens on the East Side. He's known as Weesie the Welcher and, because of his reputation as a cheat and all-around specialist in small-time skullduggery, there's hardly a pinochle player of any standing who will sit at the same table with him. Despite this, however, Weesie does manage to win an occasional dollar by acting as "cousin"— which, in coffee-house lingo, means backing another player for a percentage of his winnings....

Late one night a few weeks ago, Weesie offered to play cousin to a well-thought-of player named Schlager who, as luck would have it, had been losing consistently for weeks.

"Ya know this fella Budnick who's been playin' here of recent?" he began. "Well, he's rich like a gold mine, an' even my boy Benjy can play betta pinochle."

"What does Budnich do?" asked Schlager.

"He's a chicken flicker."

"A what?"

"A man that flicks chickens. He takes from the birds their feathers."

"Such a man is rich?"

"Yo heard me," said Weesie. "Budnick has the concession at the Essex Street Market, and the way I hear it, him an' his three helpers flick a truckload a chickens a day. Now, here's the angle —"

"Keep ya angle," said Schlager. "I don't cheat."

"Ya likewise don't eat reg'lar," said Weesie, "specially wit' the lousy cards ya been gettin' lately. Nevedaless, if ya listen to reason, I'm willin' ta stake ya against Budnick an' give ya half."

As Weesie had shrewdly guessed, Schlager's decision meant the difference between dining and dieting.

"What's ya angle?" he said finally.

"We give Budnick a witness," said Weesie.

(A "witness," in pinochle parlance, is a kibitzer who stands behind the victim and tips off his cards by means of signals.)

"Not even Budnick would fall fer that," said Schlager.

"He won't suspect this witness," said Weesie. "It's my own boy—Benjy. He's only thirteen."

"Only thirteen an' he knows how ta tip cards?"

"He's what ya call a child prodigy," said Weesie proudly. . . .

The game took place two nights later and Benjy, a pimply little delinquent, stood behind Budnick and sent up everything but smoke signals. The result, unsurprisingly enough, was that the feather magnate lost $800.

After the game, as per agreement, Schlager and Weesie split the winnings and Benjy, for services above and beyond the call of duty, got 10 per cent of his father's share.

The next night, however, when Weesie and his son dropped into the club, Schlager was waiting for them and, as the saying goes, he was fit to be tied.

"Ya tol' me this Budnick was lousy wit' money," he said. "Well, today I hear the money we steal from him was two weeks payroll, and he is losing the concession at the market on account he can't pay his help."

"So the chickens get a break," said Weesie. "So what's it to ya?"

"I ain't hungry enough ta take blood money," said Schlager. "Here's ya four hundred bucks, and choke on 'em." He threw a wad of bills into Weesie's face and walked away.

Weesie picked up the money happily. "It never rains," he said to Benjy, "but what it comes down cats an' dorgs. Here's ya ten per cent."

"This time I'm gettin' half," said the boy.

"Our deal was ten per cent," said his father.

"The deal was ten on your share. Schlager's share is sum'pin diff'rent. It happens I know Budnick's daughter, and unless I get two hundred, I'm tellin' her the swindle."

"Ya mean yo'd get ya own fadda in trouble?" asked Weesie.

"I always hear ya say," said Benjy, "that business an' sentiment don't mix. Well, what kinda son would I be if I don't take my own fadda's advice?"

Trapped, Weesie counted out the full 50 per cent.

Benjy re-counted the bills, put them in an inside pocket, and headed for the stairs.

As Weesie watched his son leave, the look of anger on his face turned to one of paternal pride.

"A genuwine chip offa the ol' block," he said.

SYMBOL OF HOPE — Ambrose Salmini, of Yonkers, N. Y., demonstrates the winning symbol of the $1800 contest he started among West Germans for a symbol that will mean "hope" to people enslaved by the Communists. About 20 per cent of the entries came from the Soviet zone, with entrants using West German return addresses. The winning symbol, selected from 2500 entries, is a simple drawing that transforms the Soviet emblem into the Christian cross in two sketches. The first shows the sickle flattening itself out in a straight line and the hammer becoming the crossbar. The second drawing shows the completed cross. It was submitted by a German whose initials are "H.J.S." but Salmini said he would have to find out if he wanted his name used. Many specified that their names were not to be disclosed.

The company spokesman said the union, the United Telephone Organizations (Ind.), joined in the announcement. FORMAL CLOTHES AT A FUNERAL

In regard to a question which appeared recently in my column about the propriety of wearing tuxedos at a funeral, and to which I answered that it would be "most improper," I have received the following letter: "Dear Mrs. Post: For your information, it is customary for members of the Masonic order to wear tuxedos or even formal clothes when conducting funeral services for a deceased brother. Masonic law, not the rules of etiquette, necessarily determines the dress of its members. Perhaps you could publish a correction at your convenience."

I confess that this information is very surprising to me, but I am only too glad to include this information in my column.

A Distressing Situation

Dear Mrs. Post: My mother passed away two weeks ago. My niece is to be married in three weeks. All preparations for the wedding have been made including a large reception at one of the hotels. I told my brother that I thought the reception should be cancelled, but he thinks it will be quite all right to go ahead with it as planned since people will realize that arrangements were made before our mother's death. What is your opinion, and do you think it would be proper for me to go to this reception?

Answer: I agree with your brother's opinion. I can't imagine that anyone could feel otherwise. (I do think dancing should be omitted). There certainly would be no impropriety in your going to the wedding of your niece if you feel up to it.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it permissible to let the left hand rest lightly on the table, just above the wrist, while not using it to eat with, or is it absolutely essential that it rest in one's lap when not in use?

Answer: Resting the side of the hand against the edge of the table is more correct than resting it on the table. Letting it lie in one's lap is best.

Where do the bride and groom stand in the receiving line? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, questions on wedding procedure, the receiving line and other details are answered in leaflet E-2. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. Can Cause Undulant Fever

Chicago, Nov. 27 (AP) — The Journal of the American Medical Association reported today there is definite proof that a vaccine used to immunize cattle against brucellosis can cause undulant fever in human beings. Two Minneapolis doctors described the cases of two veterinarians who came down with the disease after accidentally injecting brucella abortus, strain 19, into their tissues while immunizing cattle. The AMA Journal commented editorially that the vaccine contains a viable pathogen and that it should be handled only by qualified persons, preferably veterinarians, "and with the knowledge that accidental contact with it may result in active brucellosis."

New Paltz Position

filing of the answer and return of the respondents on the petitioner one day prior to the return date should not be validated.

Petitioner Gabrielli contended that the respondents having failed to serve an answer prior to two days before the return date of the application were in default. The petitioner however retained the answer and return as served.

Justice MacAffer grants the motion of respondents and holds the answer valid.

In disposing of the application of the petitioner seeking to have the 1953 tax roll invalidated and a new roll prepared, Justice MacAffer says," It is difficult from a reading of the petition to determine just what the petitioner seeks to accomplish. The petition lacks any prayer for relief."

The respondents in the answer denied substantially all of the allegations of the petitioner and sought to strike out certain allegations of the petition and also interposed two separate and affirmative defenses.

In a memorandum Justice MacAffrey says in part: "It is the contention of the respondents that a proceeding of this nature should be instituted pursuant to and in accordance with the provisions of the Tax Law and that this purported proceeding does not come within the provisions of article 78 of the Civil Practice Act. This contention of the respondents appears to be well taken. From the petition it would appear that the petitioner is seeking to obtain a correction of the assessment roll based upon alleged undervaluations, inequities and irregularities sufficient to make the assessment roll inequitable as between owners of real property. Section 173-a of the Tax Law provides the proceedure and the relief for one claiming to be so aggrieved."

Justice MacAffer says, "an application will not lie under the provisions of article 78 of the Civil Practice Act for relief by way of mandamus where another remedy is available by law. It is apparent, therefore that this application must be denied."

Justice MacAffer says further that "no useful purpose would be served in passing upon the other questions presented," and dismissed the petition with $25 costs and disbursements to the respondents.

Rhee, Kai-shek

the departure two hours after he left.

News reports from Seoul were the first word here that he was coming.

Rhee said the meeting would be brief but gave no indication of its length.

Despite all the hush-hush the United States obviously knew of the projected talks.

Gen. Hull loaned Rhee his private four-engine transport for the flight.

The navy had disclosed earlier that Rhee conferred Wednesday with the four top U. S. military officials in Korea aboard the battleship Wisconsin at Inchon, Korea.

The Navy did not say why the conference was held.

U. S. officers present were Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, 8th Army commander; Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson, U. S. 5th Air Force commander; Vice Adm. J. J. (Jocko) Clark, retiring 7th Fleet commander; and Vice Adm. A. M. Pride, Clark's successor.

The importance of Rhee's visit was emphasized by Chiang's personal greeting—the only other persons he has met at the airport in four years on this island have been Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Vice President Nixon.

Helped Make 17th Ahavath Ball Big Success

Guest entertainers and local Congregation Ahavath Israel ball workers at the 17th annual ball and stage show at municipal auditorium Wednesday night included front row, (l-r) Al Bernie, master of ceremonies; Miss Marilyn Marsh, vocalist; Herman G. Rafalowsky, general chairman; Claude Thornhill, band leader; Mrs. Ephraim Propp and Mrs. Murray Greene of the program committee. Rear (l-r) Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, Murray Greene, chairman of reserved seats and Ephraim Propp, co-chairman of the general committee. (Freeman photo)

Bernie Again Hit As Emcee for 17th Ahavath Ball Show

Al Bernie, who regaled a Kingston audience during his first appearance in this city five years ago, did it again during the 17th annual stage show and ball sponsored by Congregation Ahavath Israel Wednesday night at municipal auditorium.

The popular master of ceremonies, who headed the big five-star bill of entertainment, proved there's nothing to the jinx of making a second appearance in one city in the role of emcee.

A crowd estimated at approximately 1,500 persons attested to Bernie's smooth line, both in story telling, singing a few unusual versions of soap-opera commercials and his extraordinary impersonations.

Bernie completed his own portion on the bill with impersonations in tribute to such well-known favorites as the late Al Jolson, Eddie Cantor and Sophie Tucker.

Well-Balanced Show

The entire show went into the record books as one of the best balanced shows in the history of the Ahavath Israel programs.

Following a concert by Claude Thornhill and his orchestra, Ephraim, Propp, co-chairman of the ball, greeted the crowd and introduced Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk who in turn brought on Herman G. Rafalowsky, general chairman. Mr. Rafalowsky extended his appreciation to the audience for their continued general support to these holiday eve affairs.

Dietrich and Diane, marionette show in Toys in Multi-Color, got the show off running in smooth style with their fine presentation. Their marionettes, extending from strip-teasers to Halloween skeletons were well received for their deft handling.

Their handling of the skeletons, following a jazz number by a Sepia dancer, was exceptionally outstanding. They also featured a fancy figure ice skater and closed their bit with a precision-plus drill of five sailors.

Singers Rate Well

Bondon and Gardner, who were recently featured at the Latin Quarter in New York, also proved to be a hit with their Sweethearts of Song. Joining their soprano and baritone voices in blended harmony, they rendered several hits from such Broadway shows as Pal Joey, Wish You Were Here, South Pacific and Oklahoma. The popular couple came back for two encores.

Limited stage space cut down the performance of the two television dancing stars, Bambi Linn and Rod Ayexander, who make weekly appearances on Sid Caesar's Your Show of Shows.

They opened with a capsule calvacade showing the different styles of dancing from the first to the present day including the Charlie Chaplain days, movies, musical comedies and television. It was evident from the start of their presentation, however, that the small stage area would hamper their act. However, they thrilled the audience with their Younger Than Springtime ballroom dance. They appeared later in gay costumes for a South of the Border number.

Chinese Act Big Hit

Ming and Ling, billed as the Chinese Hillbillys, closed out the stage show portion of the program in terrific style.

One dressed in Hillbilly style playing an accordion and the other garbed in the Oriental fashion, presented a snappy entertainment showing which went over big with the crowd. Ming's singing impersonations of such favorites as Frankie Lane, Perry Como, Johnnie Ray, the Ink Spots and Al Jolson were top-drawing presentations and gave off the indication that these two entertainers will go a long way in the field of entertainment.

Following the five-act show, the Thornhill band played for dancing until 1:30 a. m. Vocals with the band were by Miss Marilyn Marsh who appeared in place of Miss Paula Martin who was ill.

Music and entertainment were supplied by Louis Ricardo of the National Radio and Theatrical Bureau.

Reports Car Mishap

Deputy Sheriff Andy Ellsworth reported Thursday a car operated by Francis Lewis Atkins of Napanoch had left Route 213 between Rosendale and High Falls near the "caves", striking the guard rail. The front end of the car was damaged but no injuries reported.

Friends, Neighbors Rally . . .

had meant anything, we wouldn't have done what we did."

Both prepared today to return to their jobs to which they commute in nearby Beaumont. Tom's an employe of an appliance firm. Betty works as a court stenographer.

"What can I do?" asked a teen-aged member of 16-year-old Margaret Palmer's Sunday school class at St. Mark's Methodist Church. The class decided to send Margaret flowers. The large bouquet was in the living room today.

Margaret, in tears, called her Sunday school teacher, crying, "what will people think?"

"You put on powder and your lipstick and be in church as usual Sunday," Mrs. M. M. Brock said she told the girl.

All Right With Them

Parents of two Orange youths married to daughters of Betty and Tom said it was all right with them. They are Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Burton, parents of Cpl. William Burton, married to Betty Ann, 21, and in the air force in Korea, and Mr. and Mrs. James E. Herring, parents of Cpl. William Herring, also in service and married to Jane, 20, who lives somewhere in Washington state.

"We love her very much," said Mrs. Burton of her daughter-in-law who is expecting a baby any moment.

"It makes no difference at all," said Herring.

Editor J. Cullen Browning of the Orange Leader said his paper called many of the town's 24,000 residents and found no one "who had any criticism for that family."

Her Father's Reaction

Back in Russellville, Mrs. Palmer's father—banker Robert Ferguson McCuddy, 76—chuckled at the news and told a reporter, "I've got a family again. She's done all right."

Both Betsy and Tom had been declared legally dead years after they vanished with nothing but the clothes they were wearing and little more than pocket change.

Today legal tangles faced Kentucky lawyers over disposition of Betty's estate which went to a nephew after she was declared dead.

But an insurance company, which first found Buntin about three weeks ago but wouldn't say where, wasn't concerned with legal arguments. Under protest it had paid off on two $25,000 insurance policies on Buntin.

Of the amount, Jac Chambliss, Chattanooga, Tenn., lawyer, said $31,000 was left. The company—New York Life—is willing to forget the money already spent and any claims for interest, Chambliss said. All it wants is the remaining $31,000. The company added that if Tom and Betty concede their true identity—which they have done—it may not be necessary for them to tell their love story in court, ever.

Confirms Relationship

The Tennessean reported in today's editions—in another copyrighted story—that Mrs. Dan C. Buntin, Tom's mother, called her son by telephone yesterday and confirmed the relationship.

Cordial, if somewhat formal, Mrs. Buntin and Tom agreed that she would come to Texas soon to visit the Palmers.

Meanwhile, David, 18, Tom's and Betty's oldest boy, and Jane prepared to come home for a first-hand account of the 22-year-old romance.

The changes time has brought: Buntin's wife is married to Louie Phillips, president of the Broadway National Bank of Nashville. Betty's brother was killed in a 1936 plane crash. Betty's mother died shortly after her daughter disappeared.

Yesterday, when reporters besieged the family for statements, Betty was told of her brother's and mother's deaths. "After all these years!" she said, biting her lip.

"Life is a strange thing," she told a reporter. "We have to tell our children we are two people when all this time we have been two other people. If we had wanted to be those people we would never have changed in the first place."

Neither tall, slim Tom nor Betty wanted to talk. But neither were anything but polite as reporters sought them out during the day.

"Please, please," Betty told an Associated Press staff member early yesterday, "all of this has happened so suddenly. Give me time to think. We'll talk to you gladly in a few days."

Were they ever legally married?

"We have nothing to say now," the pair answered. "Let us think this out."

"Are you all right in Orange?" a reporter asked. "Is everything all right?"

"We're happy — don't ask us any more questions now, please. Just ask anybody in Orange . . . They'll tell you we're all right."

And that's what the people in Orange did, too.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Nov. 25—History will prove that Harry Truman and General Eisenhower, the one by positive decision and the other by meek and servile acquiescence, doomed the United States to the current cold war and literally millions of human beings to Russian custody. Some editors and others who supported Eisenhower against Taft last year held that Ike's responsibility was not arguable because he was a soldier under orders from the President. But Ike himself has spoken out of both sides of his mouth on that point, in one utterance, he explained that he acted under orders as a soldier should in all cases up to the point at which his intelligence tells him that obedience will inflict terrible disaster on his country. But in another clear, unmistakable statement Ike accepted full responsibility for his withdrawal of the conquering American and British armies 100 miles to the westward and the surrender of all that territory and all those Germans to the Soviet Union. He said the decision was his.

I am mining precious nuggets of information from Jonathan Daniels' book, "The Man of Independence," these days. And here, from a casual paragraph dealing with Winston Churchill's "Iron Curtain" speech at Westminster College, at Fulton, Mo., is a quotation attributed by Daniels to Truman which absolutely proves Truman's terrible guilt.

Daniels says Truman said to him: "Churchill had tried to get me not to withdraw our troops from Prague. I told him we were bound to do that by our agreements with the Russians. But if I had known then what I know now, I would have ordered the troops to go to the western boundaries of Russia."

Now, Churchill is telling us that he forsaw the developments which have seized the United States and our people in their crushing grip and reduced the British to a sulky, indifferent tribe with a disposition to make the best of it if Russia comes a'conquering but not to fight the Russians to defend America. Of course, Churchill doesn't always tell the whole truth as we noted in his failure to mention Harry Dexter White and the Soviet spies in our government when he was touching on the Morgenthau plan. Again, his treatment of Pierre Laval is snide and self-serving, for he does not grant Laval the status of a French patriot in refusing to put British interests first.

However, we have much evidence that Churchill always kept the Russian treachery and ambition forward in his mind and wanted to capture Vienna and the Danube as the Allies easily could have done, regardless of Stalin's displeasure. Like our own General Albert Wedemeyer, who refused to serve Roosevelt as a politician, Churchill wanted to throw the Russians back into their own borders. They were mighty but they were inefficient and the Allies could have drawn a line and held them there but for Truman.

As to Ike, what would have happened to him if he had disobeyed and gone forward? Vienna and the Danube were lost already, but Poland, Czechoslovakia and Eastern Germany could have been saved. Would Truman have dared to put Ike under arrest and fly him home in irons? If he had done that the American people would have acclaimed Ike in the streets. It is hard to imagine the political consequences but they certainly would not have been pleasant for Truman and those conspirators who put him in the White House. But there is not a trace of evidence that Ike had the intelligence to agree with Churchill and Wedemeyer or, indeed, that it ever occurred to him to doubt the nobility of the Soviet government. There is nothing in his war diary to support a legend that General Patton voiced any criticism.

I have seen inklings of the same gutlessness in Eisenhower's instantaneous desertion of Dick Nixon when the Democrats turned up the story of his political fund during the campaign. Instead of roaring out that Dick Nixon was a fine, honorable young man, Ike said he would have to "come clean," plainly implying a doubt. Instead of supporting Joe McCarthy in his great campaign to expose and root out traitors, Ike dragged his heels and gave an insipid approval to the anti-anti-Reds. And after Brownell had exposed Truman's guilt in the Harry Dexter White case, Ike minimized the treason in the government and said he hoped communism would not be a political issue in '54. Of coure, it will be an issue. It may be the only one.

I try to understand the processes of an editor whose concept of his professional duty lets him take service with a President, the head of a political party, and so conduct himself as to stay in favor with such a paltry man as Truman. If Truman confessed to him, a selfless secretary, in March 1946 that he had been mistaken in trusting the Russians and drawing back from the Elbe did he owe the greater duty to Truman or to the people who read his paper and rely on him as an honorable man to publish fateful information which should be theirs? I have my own opinion but then I would never accept a job with a political party or administration unless I publicly quit my role of journalist.

I have to come back to Truman's friend, Max Lowenthal, in this connection. Daniels has told us that Lowenthal picked Truman for vice president and added the mysterious observation that "Truman was nominated by men speculating beyond the death of Roosevelt who knew what they wanted but did not know what they were getting."

In testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities in September, 1950, Lowenthal, the king-maker, said:

"There was a man that I was supporting before it became known that Mr. Roosevelt was going to run for a third term."

Truman was his man.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Several store keepers were talking about the item which appeared in The Freeman of Friday, Oct. 16, 1953. It seems at a public meeting held at the City Hall a proposal was made that there be no deliveries by truck in the business districts on Fridays and Saturdays and days before holidays after 10 a. m. Perhaps the following from a Kingston Freeman of some 30 years ago, May 25, 1923 (Friday) may interest those interested one way or the other about the above proposal.

Quoting from the 1923 article which was titled "What Rights Has a Parked Auto?" the following ink was written: "If the owner of an automobile drives his car up and parks it in front of a place of business can the car be moved without consent of the owner? That is a question that arises daily in Kingston, especially among businessmen whose places of business are daily obstructed by parked pleasure cars. Many of the business houses have their own trucks which, when they drive up with a load of goods for the store, find it impossible to do so as the entrance is blocked by parked cars."

The above question "was thoroughly discussed at a recent meeting (1923) of the Board of Public Works when the question of parking was discussed with Chief of Police J. Allan Wood. According to Chief Wood if an auto is found parked in front of a place of business, and another vehicle is driven up with a load, the driver of the loaded vehicle has the right to demand the owner of the parked car to remove it. If the owner cannot be found, steps can be taken to remove the car. There are some car owners who believe that no one has the authority to remove their car, and refuse to do so when asked. In that case they can be placed under arrest by the one desiring them to do so. Chief Wood said that Article 15, Sec. 9, of the General Highway Traffic Law, covered the question fully. Article 15 reads as follows: "A person in charge or control of any vehicle standing in any street shall cause the same to be moved immediately at the request of the driver of another vehicle, the lawful movement of which is obstructed or delayed by the standing vehicle. A vehicle at the curb shall promptly give place to a vehicle about to take on or discharge passengers. This section of the General Highway Law seems to be unknown to many drivers and its observance would cause less friction and delay in the handling of traffic in the busy sections of the city," the newspaper item concluded on May 25, 1923.

I wonder if the above law is still in effect. Also I often wonder what happens when a number of traffic laws are passed over the years and one conflicts with the other. Does the new regulation supersede an older regulation. For instance, I understand it is against the law to double park. Now that parking meters are installed and are placed righ up to the very corners on many blocks it is impossible for the city bus to pull over to the curb in those places as he should to take on or discharge passengers. So in such a case one regulation compels a driver to break another regulation, or does the double parking law exclude the city buses. Also doesn't Article 15, Sec. 9 conflict with the parking meters. It would be interesting to hear both sides of such a story by those well versed in old and new vehicle traffic laws.

Will Open Defense

Tehran, Iran, Nov. 27 (AP)—Ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and his army judges rested today in preparation for the opening of the former dictator's defense against charges of trying to upset the monarchy and illegally dissolving Parliament. The way was cleared for Mossadegh to start talking when the chief prosecutor, Brig. Hossein Azemodeh, finished a 35-hour indictment speech yesterday by again demanding the death penalty. The old politician's lawyer, Col. Jalil Bozorgmehr, told newsmen Mossadegh is set to begin his arguments when the court resumes its sessions tomorrow. "He has been waiting anxiously for this," Bozorgmehr added.

Mule's Head Is Functional

Jonesboro, Ark. (AP)—Passersby gaped curiously at what appeared to be a mule's head on the ground. The mule had fallen into a 12-foot cistern. A wrecker hoist sent the animal trotting away, unhurt.

Hint to Motorists

Always be sure that the tires are up to the recommended pressure when having automobile brakes inspected, since this will result in more satisfactory equalization of the brakes.

Increasing Pressure

Sea pressure increases at the rate of a ton to the square inch with each mile of depth. Off the island of Mindanao, in the Philippine group, soundings of 35,400 feet have been reported.

She Had It

Omaha (AP)—A 53-year-old woman, found by police with her clothes torn, and bruises about the face, told officers her 71-year-old husband was responsible. Would she bring charges against him? "No," said the woman after hospital treatment, "I had it coming."

In addition Dr. Noll announced the election to the association's board of Edgar Kobak, New York, business consultant and president of the Advertising Research Foundation, Inc., and Moorehead C. Kennedy, vice-president of the Empire Trust Company, New York. Kobak, who was president of the Mutual Broadcasting Syster (1944-1949), is president-elect of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., which has headquarters in Chicago. Kennedy is president of the Good Will Industries in Manhattan.

Other Officers

Knapp, first vice-president, Farmingdale; Ira Mendleson, second vice-president, Albany; Carl Snyder, also Albany, third vice-president; Mrs. Walter C. Drew, secretary, Schenectady; and Charles McAllister, White Plains, treasurer.

Founded in 1923 the New York State Association for Crippled Children has headquarters at 257 Fourth avenue, New York. It helps provide therapeutic and educational services, technical personnel and special equipment to aid the handicapped throughout the state.

Kerhonkson

High School News

The spaghetti dinner sponsored Thursday night by the Sophomore class of Kerhonkson High School proved a decided success. Mrs. Esther Yeager took charge of the preparations with the help of many class mothers.

Library Club Conference

Kerhonkson High School sent a delegation to the conference of Library Clubs held at Ellenville Nov. 21. Under the leadership of Mrs. L. Fredd the group participated in lectures and discussion periods covering various phases of library work: book selection, library decorations, club management. Other schools also sent representatives to the meeting which commemorated National Book Week. The members of the committee were Jean Crawford, president; Evelyn Fowler, secretary; Beverly Simpson, Marvin Stoddard, Richard Van Demark, Donald Quick and Susan Sellack.

English Class Project

The division of the present Freshman English Class of Kerhonkson High School into two groups has shown great promise says Mrs. Wililam Krom. Mrs. Krom is the instructor of the remedial reading group of students who were separated after examining the entire class's results on the Iowa State Silent Reading Test. Because reading is perhaps that most important single skill leading to high school success—or failure—it was decided to give special attention to those who demonstrated a failure to work up to par. The week is divided into two days of functional English in which the students are taught proper spelling, grammar and writing habits. Another two are devoted to remedial reading. During this time each individual works with a reading test based upon his own level of achievement . . . and as a member of a group on that same level. Exercises are given to improve comprehension, speed, details, picking out the main thought and vocabulary. The final day is used in leasure reading of materials of appropriate difficulty.

Mrs. Krom expressed the desire that all the parents of these students become more interested in finding out the quality of their child's reading ability and what is being done to help them and what they themselves can do to help them, for it is their attitude which can determine the success or failure of the experiment.

Killed in Auto Crash

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Harry Kavesh, 50, of 1184 Evergreen avenue, the Bronx, a New York city marshal and a member of the Liberal Party State Executive Committee, was killed when his automobile skidded Wednesday night on the Taconic Parkway near Peekskill. A party spokesman here said Kavesh's wife, Lillyan, suffered minor injuries and was taken to Peekskill Hospital. The car crashed into an abutment. Kavesh was a candidate for Congress last year. He was an attorney, secretary of the party's law committee and a member of the Bronx County Bar Association.

Today in Washington . . .

and the sale of government influence.

As for demagoguery, the speeches of former President Truman—one of which accused President Eisenhower of a "thoroughly dishonest" statement in his campaign—and the smear attacks repeatedly made on former President Hoover that emanated from the Democratic National Committee are by no means instances of exemplary behavior on the part of the Trumanites.

Most candidates in both parties will avoid the Communist issue if they can because, after all it is not the Wisconsin senator but the millions of voters who think the Democratic administration covered up and suppressed the facts about Communists in government for fear of political injury at the polls who will be alienated if anyone attempts to make a straight-out anti-McCarthy issue. Also, on the other hand, if any candidate impugns the loyalty of the former President, it will boomerang. The issue, where it does arise, will be fought rather on the laxity and looseness of the Democratic administration. It can be of no avail in districts where the Democratic members of Congress—and there are many of them—have fought the Communists vigorously in public hearings and speeches in Congress.

Grounded

About that proverbial green thumb—
I somehow seem to lack one.
My thumb that digs and plants and weeds
Is just a very black one.
—Aquina G. Shea

Sometimes a situation, which to the kind of a mind which requires certainty seems hopeless, can be adjusted in the most commonplace manner:

Former Congressman Charles R. Davis, of Minnesota, related that one afternoon a train on a western railroad stopped at a small station, and one of the passengers, in looking over the place, found his gaze fixed upon an interesting sign. Hurrying to the side of the conductor, he eagerly inquired:

Passenger—Do you think that I will have time to get a soda before the train starts?

Conductor—Oh, yes.

Passenger — But suppose that the train should go on without me?

Conductor—We can easily fix that. I will go along and have one with you.

A regiment of soldiers was making a long, dusty march across the rolling prairie. It was a hot, blistering day and the men, longing for water and rest, were impatient to reach the next town.

A rancher rode past.

Man—Say, friend, how far is it to the next town?

Rancher—Oh, a matter of two miles, or so, I reckon.

Another long hour dragged by, and another rancher was encountered.

Man—How far to the next town?

Rancher—Oh, a good two miles.

A weary half-hour longer of marching, and then a third rancher.

Man—Hey, how far's the next town?

Rancher—Not far. Only about two miles.

The spectacles of experience; through them you will see clearly a second time.—Ibsen.

British TV Scheme Approved by Peers

London, Nov. 27 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's Conservatives beat down a rebellion in their own ranks last night, winning approval in the House of Lords of cabinet plans to introduce commercial television in Britain.

The Peers by a 157-87 vote defeated a motion opposing the government's sceme. A full debate is now slated for the House of Commons.

The nation's present TV and radio are a monopoly of the publicly owned British Broadcasting Corporation (BBC). Under the new plan, some advertising would be accepted to earn money for improving and expanding the service.

Government opponents claimed a moral victory in last night's vote in the Upper House, contending that between 80 and 150 members abstained from voting. Leading Conservatives opposing the plan include Lord Halifax, former ambassador to Washington, and the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher.

One of Three Hot Issues

The hot issue over TV is one of three rifting the Conservative ranks. Rebels in the party also have opposed the government's stand against pension increases for World War 1 officers and its tentative decision to withdraw the British garrison from the Suez Canal.

The political differences have brought Churchill under bitter criticism from some of his Conservative supporters just as he is preparing for the Big Three meeting in Bermuda.

Yesterday the Prime Minister answered opposition laborite questions about the meeting, telling the House of Commons he would seek a greater exchange of British and American atomic secrets.

"Our desire," he said, " is that the exchange should be reciprocal on fair and equal terms and that is what we shall endeavor to pursue."

American laws now bar the joint atomic research that the United States and Britain carried on as World War 2 partners.

Answering another question, Churchill pledged that Britain would stand by the principle of resistance to Communist aggression, as it was upheld in Korea, in case of Red moves elsewhere in southeast Asia.

Macon Is Montreal Boss

Montreal, Nov. 27 (AP)—Max Macon, one-time major league pitcher and first baseman, today was named manager of the Montreal Royals of the International Baseball League. He succeeds Walter Alston, named manager of the parent Brooklyn Dodgers earlier this week. Macon, who was manager of the Fort Worth team in the Texas League for 1953, was signed to a one-year contract.

Founder of Christmas Seal Here

Lee Mitchell Hodges of Doylestown, Penna., one of the four original founders of the Christmas Seal, reviewed the history of this great humanitarian movement which was inaugurated 46 years ago, at a joint meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs on Wednesday. Special guests at the luncheon were directors of the Ulster County TB and Health Association.

Christmas Seal Founder Urges Continued Support

The tremendous job we still have ahead of us in the fight to conquer tuberculosis was emphasized at the Rotary-Kiwanis joint meeting Wednesday at the Hotel Stuyvesant by Leigh Mitchell Hodges, sole surviving member of a group of four who in 1907 inaugurated the Christmas Seal and publicized its sale on a nationwide basis.

Six billion dollars a year are being spent on active cases of tuberculosis, he declared in stressing the need for continued support of Christmas Seals.

The founder reviewed the history of the Christmas Seal, which he originated 46 years ago while a member of the editorial staff of the Philadelphia North American with the assistance of Emily P. Bissell. They persuaded the editor of this paper to launch one of the greatest voluntary movements in the United States today.

The early struggles were graphically portrayed by the speaker.

Mr. Hodges paid tribute to the Ulster County TB and Health Association, a pioneer organization which has been carrying on this work since 1909, and to Katherine M. Murphy, executive secretary.

For nearly a half century, Mr. Hodges has inspired people from coast to coast in this great humanitarian effort. He also is a noted author. Among his books is The People Against Tuberculosis. A columnist for the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, writing under the title, The Optimist, he is constantly waging a fight to eradicate tuberculosis throughout the country.

Officers and directors of the Ulster County Association were present at the luncheon. President Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb expressed the appreciation of the group for the appearance of the speaker and James L. Rowe, general chairman of the 1953 Christmas Seals, thanked his committee.

Rotary President Larry V. Bogert presided and presented Kiwanis President Jansen Fowler.

Will Go to Red Hospital

Inchon, Korea, Nov. 27 (AP)—A Communist Czech officer who was shot and wounded here will be sent to a Red hospital near Panmunjom in the neutral zone tomorrow, the UN command said tonight. The officer, a member of a neutral nations truce inspection team working here, was shot in the head early yesterday. His condition is listed as serious. The Czech, Lt. Col. Vojetech Bagda, was taken aboard the U. S. hospital ship Consolation shortly after the shooting. He will be flown from the ship to Panmunjom by a UNC helicopter. Other Czech team members did not allow American officers to question the wounded man. They reported he was shot accidentally when a pistol he was packing in a bag went off.

Harrison Is Cut In Car, Truck Crash

Edward Harrison, of 115 Broadway, suffered a laceration of the forehead when his sedan and a trailer truck were in collision on Broadway below West Chestnut street early Thursday.

Officers William Slover and Everett Emmick, who investigated at 12:43 a. m., said Harrison was headed south on Broadway and the truck was coming up the hill when they collided.

The truck, owned by the Smith Transportation Limited, 112 Plum street, Syracuse, was driven by A. Kenneth Simpson, of Potsdam. The sedan was turned around in the road, the report said.

Harrison was treated at Kingston Hospital and discharged.

Baby Injured in Collision

At 7 o'clock Thursday evening two cars collided on Route 28 when the driver of the cars reported each other had "crossed the white center line" of the road. A seven-week-old boy was reported to have been injured and taken to a physician for treatment. Herbert Soucy, 53, of 1616 East 92nd street, Brooklyn, was traveling west and Frank Multari, 29, of 878 Midland avenue, Yonkers, was driving east when the cars collided. The left side of the cars received damage. Albert Multari, seven weeks old, was taken to a doctor by his father, according to a report of Deputy Sheriffs Wesley A. O'Brien and Chester Wolven who investigated.

Chicken and Music at Jail

The 41 inmates of the Ulster county jail missed a turkey dinner on Thanksgiving but Chef Jacob Lay provided a chicken dinner. The menu consisted of roast chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, creamed turnips, creamed onions, German dressing, cranberry sauce, bread, apples and tea. A notation on the menu entered by Jailor Carl Cline said "with music," played over the jail communications system.

Fish Will Lead Fight On Internationalism

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—A nationwide fight against "internationalism," to be waged within both the Republican and Democratic parties, is planned by a group which has chosen Hamilton Fish as its spokesman.

Formation of the new group is not a third party movement, Fish says, but he adds:

"It is obvious that, if the Republican Party in 1956 again nominates an internationalist for president and adopts an internationalist platform, there automatically will be a third party with machinery set up in every state."

Fish, former Republican congresman from New York state who broke with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey years ago, revealed Wednesday that plans had been started to form the American Action Committee on a national basis, the movement began at a dinner meeting Tuesday night of 35 persons, mostly all Republicans.

Among those at the meeting, it was announced, were: Former U. S. Sens. Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) and Albert W. Hawkes (R-N. J.); newspaper publisher Frank E. Gannett; Frank L. Hughes, of the Chicago Tribune staff, described as a representative of Col. Robert R. McCormick, Tribune publisher, and former Rep. W. Kingsland Macy (R-N. Y.), a Dewey foe.

Fish said that in addition to fighting "internationalism" the group planned to combat socialism and communism and seek "to prevent the country from being given away."

During World War 2 the U. S. armed services in the South Pacific conducted classes in pidgin English.

Celebrate Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. David Roach of 160 O'Neil street held open house yesterday on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary, with many relatives and friends attending the celebration. (Freeman photo)

Retired Engineer And Wife Honored On 50th Anniversary

Relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Roach yesterday from 7 p. m. on to celebrate the Roachs' golden wedding anniversary.

Married Nov. 25, 1903, at St. Peter's Church in Rosendale by Father Lennis, the Roachs are long-time residents of this area. The maid of honor for the ceremony, Mrs. Nellie Devine of Hasbrouck avenue, widow of James Devine, was a guest at the festivities yesterday.

Mrs. Roach, the former Mary Joseph, is from High Falls. Mr. Roach originally came from Sawkill.

An engineer on the New York Central for 46½ years, Mr. Roach retired February 12, 1941. He is a member of the Third Degree, Knights of Columbus, and also belongs to the Holy Name Society of St. Joseph's Church.

Mrs. Roach, who devotes herself to "being a housewife," takes an active role in St. Anthony's Guild of the Sacred Heart Society.

Edward Roach, their son, and his wife, flew from Chicago to be with his parents on their anniversary yesterday. He is employed at the U. S. Steel Corporation as an accountant in that city. Mrs. Edward Roach is the former Helen Noonan, RN of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. David Roach also had a daughter, May, who died in 1930.

Guests from out of town attending the open house were Miss Edna Roach, a niece of Engelwood, N. J.; Mrs. Joseph Donohue, a great niece, and Mr. Donohue of Canton; James Young, a nephew, of Syracuse; and Miss Helen Richards, a niece of Freeport.

Prior to the open house, a dinner was held for guests at the Nieuw Dorp in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Roach.

Farm Sales Bigger

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Agriculture Department says farm sales were slightly bigger during the first 10 months of 1953 than in the same period last year, but the farmer received 5 per cent less cash. The department report yesterday said the decline, to a total of $24,800,000,000, was caused by lower prices. However, it said the consumer paid more for goods in general, with prices of industrial goods rising slightly to balance the lower prices of farm goods. The report also noted a small boost in charges for transportation, rent, medical care and other services. It said farm receipts from meat animals declined 7 per cent and for crops 2 per cent.

Settlement Reached

Settlement was reached Wednesday afternoon in a negligence action brought by Dorothy Lipka of Ellenville against Edward Christiana, Ellenville restaurant keeper. Plaintiff asked $3,000 damages for injuries suffered when she fell on the walk at 142 Center street, Ellenville. A jury had been selected before a settlement was reached. Kooperman & Kooperman appeared for plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook, Jr., for defendant. The term will resume Monday at 2 o'clock.

Bohemian Folk Music In Compositions Of Bedrich Smetana

Bohemia, described as the land of harp player and street musicians, is one of the most musical countries of Europe. Keeping alive the folk melodies in music, Bedrich Smetana emerged as its first famous composer and pianist, said Mrs. Arthur Laidlaw in a report to the Music Appreciation Group of the YWCA Thursday.

At the meeting held in the home of Mrs. William Jackson on Washington avenue, Mrs. Laidlaw played several of the best known works of Smetana on records. Included were selections from The Bartered Bride, The Dance of the Comedians, and The Polka.

Expressing the deep feeling for his native land, Smetana composed the symphony, My Fatherland, from which The Moldau was played for the music group. The selection depicts the quiet of the waters at the source which gathers power and speed as it flows along, beautifully expressed in the melodic passages.

Aus der Heimat, a violin solo from the same symphony, and The Cradle Song, from The Kiss, sung by the soprano soloist, Madame Jarmila Novotna, showing the variation of his work, completed the program.

Mrs. Laidlaw was introduced by Mrs. G. W. Ross, representing the program committee. Cohostess for the afternoon was Mrs. Henry Millonig. Mrs. Richard Morse, vice chairman, presided in the absence of Mrs. Ralph Harper, chairman.

A social hour followed the talk, with Mrs. Robert H. Pixley presiding at the tea table.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. L. Rider on Lounsberry Place with Mrs. Conrad Heiselman and Mrs. Harry Smith as co-hostesses on Thursday, Dec. 3.

The subject to be presented by Mrs. Florence Cubberly will be The Scandinavian Musicians, Svendson and Sinding.

Indian Heritage In Music, Legends Stressed by Speaker

At a meeting of the Atharhacton Club held Wednesday, Nov. 18, Mrs. William C. Kingman was hostess and also gave the paper for the day, Indian Folk Literature and Music.

Previous to the meeting, the members looked at an assortment of Indian relics; arrowheads found on the Kingman property, pottery and basketry.

Afternoon tea was served with Mrs. Charles Arnold pouring.

Mrs. Kingman spoke first on a book, The Indian Book, recorded and edited by Natalie Curtis, which reflects the soul of "one of the noblest types of primitive man, the North American Indian."

Highlights of her resume of this work were the observations that while the Indian lacked a sense of harmony, no civilized music has such complex and changing rhythm as the music of the American Indian. The most beautiful work as yet evolved from Indian sources is MacDowell's Indian Suite. The importance of music to the tribal Indian may be found in the fact that the young Indian boy learned the history of his tribe and their songs simultaneously with old men and women as his teachers.

Mrs. Kingman read Birth of the Arbutus, a beautiful Indian legend, which shows the deep spiritual feeling of the Indian.

The drama of the Indians, the third part of Mrs. Kingman's talk, formed the basis for the rise of theatricals in America. Beginning with the Indian Treaties, in which the Indians re-enacted happenings during parleys, the folk basis of operettas, poems and songs about Indians was formed. The first of the Treaties antedate by 80 years Godfrey's, Prince of Parthis, usually considered to be the first American play.

Mrs. Kingman concluded her talk with illustrations of the influence of the American Indian on statesmen and literature as well as in music in America.

At the close of the reading, Mrs. Henry Dunbar sang an Indian lullaby, accompanying herself by using a rattle of deerskin, following this by the Pawnee Indian song of Thanksgiving in the Indian language. In her last song by Cadman, Far Off I Hear a Lover's Flute, she was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Lloyd LeFever.

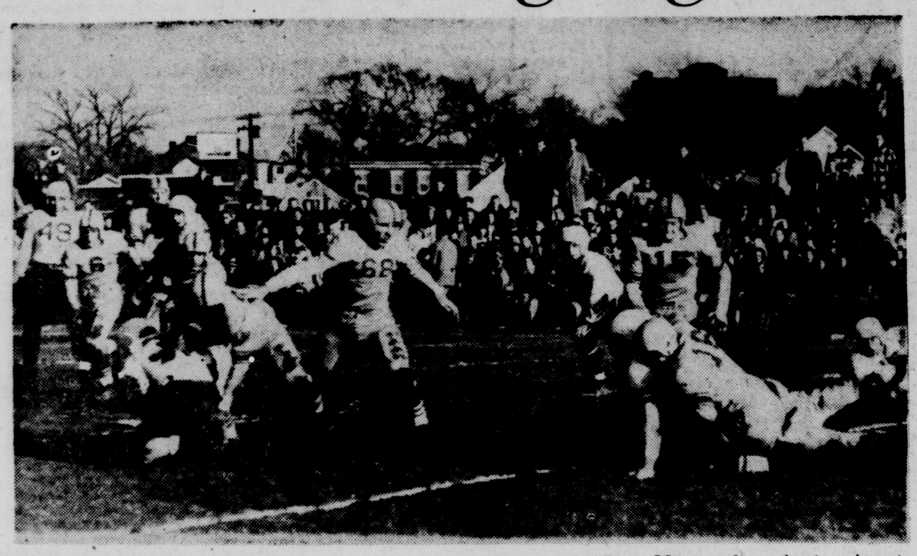
Pictorial Highlights in Kingston-Newburgh Football Game



Billy Huber, NFA quarterback, has just stopped Kingston's Gene Massa after short gain at midfield. The Goldbacks' Paul Benosky (68) and Richard Howard (15) are moving in just in case.

Gil Dillard (20) NFA's gifted runner has just been given the "whoa, brother" treatment by Kingston's Dick LeFevre. Louie Kuntz (43) looks on approvingly.

John Turck, Kingston's right end, has just made a spectacular catch of a Roger Billings pass and is TD bound late in second period. NFA's Paul Suto caught up with him near goal line but couldn't stop him as Kingston went ahead 6-0.

Army, Irish Favorites In Big Games Saturday

Cadets Are 1-Point Choice Over Navy

BY ORLO ROBERTSON

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Tradition laden games just about wrap up the 1953 college football season tomorrow but only one of them is sure to have any effect on the line-up for the January first bowl contests.

The schedule lists such rivalries as Army-Navy, Notre Dame-Southern California, Alabama-Auburn, Georgie-Georgia Tech and Oklahoma-Oklahoma A. & M. But it's the Rice-Baylor game at Houston that will determine the host team in the Cotton Bowl.

Texas clinched at least a tie for the Southwest Conference title and remained in running for a Cotton Bowl spot by defeating the Texas Aggies 21-12 yesterday. Now if Baylor defeats Rice, the Longhorns will go into the bowl at Dallas Jan. 1 against an unnamed opponent. But if Rice wins, it'll be the Owls since they defeated Texas during the regular season.

Cornell Wins Ivy

Thanksgiving Day games also produced the undisputed winner of the Ivy League crown in Cornell, which tied Pennsylvania 7-7. Penn already had conceded the title to Cornell since it played only one league rival but the tie erased any possibility of an argument. The game marked the end of George Munger's 16-year career as head coach at Penn. And it was his first losing season.

The year's largest crowd, 102,000, will watch the colorful Army-Navy game in Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium. It is the nationally televised game of the day. The Middies will be out to make it four straight over the Cadets but the Black Knights from high above the Hudson river are favored on the basis of a better record against common opponents this year.

Sugar Bowl bound Georgia Tech likewise is the choice to whip its state rival and go into the post-season against West Virginia at New Orleans with an 8-2-1 record.

Irish Seek Prestige

Notre Dame, seeking to get back on the victory trail after being tied by Iowa last week and shoved out of first place in the Associated Press poll, figures to whip Southern California and chalk up its eighth victory with only Southern Methodist remaining.

The Alabama - Auburn game could well produce the team to oppose the Southwest Conference champs in the Cotton Bowl. Auburn has lost only to Georgia Tech and been tied by Mississippi State while winning seven games. Alabama has a 5-2-3 record. One of the defeats was by Maryland, the nation's No. 1 ranking team.

Oklahoma, headed for the Orange Bowl as Maryland's oppoent, finishes its regular season against the Oklahoma Aggies. The Sooners figure to win but, like most traditional games, the book can be thrown out the window in this case.

Other games include Mississippi - Mississippi State, Villanova-Fordham, North Carolina-Duke, North Carolina State-Florida State, Tulane-L.S.U., Vanderbilt-Tennessee, Tulsa-Arkansas, Colorado-Colorado A. & M., Florida-Miami, Boston Univ.-William & Mary and Arizona-Arizona State.

Thanksgiving Day games also were of the traditional type. In the top ones, Colgate and Brown played a 7-7 tie, Detroit beat Wichita 26-6 for a share in the Missouri Valley Conference title, Wake Forest surprised South Carolina 19-13, Virginia Military downed Virginia Tech 28-13, Mississippi Southern beat Chattanooga 33-19, Denver and Wyoming tied 13-13, College of the Pacific turned back Utah State 20-14, and favored Utah just managed to defeat Brigham Young 33-32 in the NCAA's nationally televised game.

Al Rosen Wins MVP

Al Rosen

New York, Nov. 27 (AP) — Al Rosen, Cleveland's slugging third baseman, was named most valuable player of the American League today by an unprecedented unanimous vote.

All 24 members of the committee of the Baseball Writers Association, three from each American League city, named Rosen first on their ballots. Thus the 28-year-old infielder won the award in a landslide with a maximum 336 points.

The highest previous total was run up by Lou Boudreau with 324 points in 1948, the year he led Cleveland to the pennant and world championship. Best score in National League history was Stan Musial's 319 in 1946.

To touch off this demonstration of solid support, Rosen led the league in home runs with 43, runs batted in with 145 and just missed nipping Washington's Mickey Vernon for the batting championship. Vernon finished with an unofficial .337 to Rosen's .336.

Fourth Full Season

This was Rosen's fourth full season in the majors although he also appeared briefly in 1947, 1948 and 1949. It was by far his most impressive performance. When Rosen first came to the majors his fielding left much to be desired but he worked hard to improve himself to move out of the "chest fielder" category.

Rosen's most valuable player victory was no surprise as he had been the outstanding candidate, just as Roy Campanella had been expected to win the National. Campanella, of course, had much stiffer competition from Eddie Mathews.

Bobby Shantz, the Philadelphia A's little lefthander who won the American League MVP award in 1952 didn't get a vote because he was sidelined most of the year due to arm trouble.

Yogi Berra, the New York Yankee catcher, and 1951 winner, finished second to Rosen with 167 points, and Vernon was third with 165. Actually Vernon polled 10 seconds to only five for Berra but the votes for third, fourth and so on gave Berra more points. Berra hit .297, drove in 108 runs and hit 27 homers. Vernon knocked in 116 runs, second to Rosen.

Turck and Roux Score TDs in Season's Finale

Kingston High wound up its 1953 football season on a happy note yesterday, whipping the fast improving Newburgh Academy Goldbacks, 14-0, before more than 4,500 turkey-minded spectators at municipal stadium. Two touchdowns and a safety did the trick.

NFA adherents were inclined to claim a "moral victory" since their inspired Goldbacks successfully forestalled the kind of indignities they had heaped on Kingston teams in 1951 and 1952.

Still the Kingston triumph was solid enough and there was little doubt about the Maroon's superiority. They checked a two-year losing streak to NFA and reduced the overall margin in the series to 23-14. The win was the sixth in seven starts this season.

Too Many Fumbles

Over-eager to roll up a thumping margin, the Maroons were guilty of frequent fumbles that stalled promising touchdown drives. Five times they fumbled and four times Newburgh recovered.

A brilliant 28-yard pass play engineered by Roger Billings and Johnny Turck sent Kingston ahead 6-0 in the closing minute of the second quarter.

Ray Roux split tackle from the 7 in the third period to boost the score to 12-0 and early in the fourth period Mickey "The Marvel" Burkoski, the basketball wizard, was tackled in his own end zone for a safety.

A 65-yard boot by Gene Massa carried over the NFA goal line late in the second period. The Goldbacks moved from the 20 to 31 where Roger Billings swooped on a fumble. Three passes missed fire but Billings hit Turck on the 28 on fourth down and then hit him again near the 10.

Turck made a twisting catch of the pass and veered for the northwest coffin corner with Newburgh's Paul Suto in hot persuit. Suto got a shot at Turck but was unable to slow him down and the Maroon end staggered over the goal line. Massa's placement was wide.

Move 77 Yards

Kingston power asserted itself in a 77-yard trek in nine plays in the third period. After Johnson returned a punt to the 23, Massa moved to the 29 and Billings reached the Kingston 36 for a first down. On two cracks, Charlie Johnson reached the 46 and Ray Roux, a brilliant performer yesterday, barrelled to a first down on the Newburgh 38. Massa ripped off 20 yards and looked good for the distance until Suto drove him out of bounds on the 8. Roux, who played the best game of his career, was stopped with one yard but on his second try bulldozed through the center from the 7 and Kingston went ahead 6-0.

Exchange Fumbles

A fumble recovery by Louis Kuntz on the Newburgh 38 appeared to be a solid break until the Golbacks retaliated by stealing one on their own 10. Massa sped 25 yards before he was chased out of bounds on the 13. Ray Roux slammed to the 8 but the fumble came on the next play. Suto lost to the 6 and when Burkoski tried to punt from behind his goal line he was swarmed under by a host of Kingston defenders.

NFA made one serious threat late in the game, as Burkoski passed to Fox who was downed on the Kingston 5. Ward made an illegal pass to Ward and the Goldbacks were set back to the 14. Kingston held for downs on the 10.

Kingston held a 157-108 yard edge in rushing but the Goldbacks picked up 94 yards to Kingston's 38 in passing. Still the Maroons controlled the ball most of the way. Dillard, NFA's speedy Negro back, sparkled in the early moments of the game but Kingston solved his style before long.

Massa and Roux were outstanding for Kingston, the former twice narrowly missing going all the way and compiling a solid 38.8 punting average.

Some Kingston rooters might have been disappointed by the Maroon's failure to run up a more decisive score. But not Coach Bill Burke. He had warned that NFA was on the upswing and expected real opposition. And they got it in the brilliant sunshine yesterday, one of the finest Turkey Days in many years.

So now to basketball.

Lakers Roll To Good Lead in NBA

(By The Associated Press)

The Minneapolis Lakers, off slowly in defense of their National Basketball Association title, are really rolling now.

With George Mikan dropping in 23 points the Lakers defeated the Philadelphia Warriors 88-80 last night for their sixth straight victory and remained two and one-half games in front of Rochester in the Western division.

Rochester was forced into overtime by the Baltimore Colts before winning 80-75. Fort Wayne downed Milwaukee 78-64 and Syracuse moved within five percentage points of second place Philadelphia in the Eastern division with a 93-86 victory over Boston.

The Lakers dominated their game from the start until the fourth period when the Warriors surged within two points, 81-79, with two minutes to play. Philadelpha's Neil Johnston racked up 34 points to cement his standing as the league's No. 1 scorer. He now has 303 compared to 287 for Mikan.

Reserves Odie Spears and Jack McMahon provided the scoring punch in Rochester's overtime triumph. Spears sank the goal which tied the score at 65-65 at the end of the regulation time and then joined with McMahon in adding 10 points between them in the overtime session.

Milwaukee, which broke a 10-game losing streak Wednesday night, was unable to cope with the deadly long range shooting of Fred Scolari during the early stages. And when the Hawks rally, the lead was too great to overcome.

Syracuse never tailed Boston but the Celtics tied the score three times before the Nats went ahead to stay in the third period after easy Ed Macauley made his ninth straight foul shot. George King and Adolph Schayes led the Syracuse scoring with 15 points each. Bill Sharman was high for Boston with 24.

Off to Slow Start, Bevo Rallies With Only 64 Points at Buffalo

Buffalo, Nov. 27 (AP)—Clarence "Bevo" Francis, newly-elected constable of Rio Grande, Ohio, says he "always has a slow first half."

But that second half—look out!

Bevo, who cracked every record in the college basketball book last season—his first intercollegiate competition, had a mere 17 in the first half last night as Rio Grande College opened its new season against Erie County Technical Institute of Buffalo. But he came on with a rush to finish the game with 64 as the little Ohio school poured it on for a 120-59 victory.

Bevo's total was a new individual record for Memorial Auditorium, and Rio Grande's 120 points shattered the team mark for the auditorium, where many of the nation's top clubs visit annually.

The old individual mark of 42 points was set last year by Larry O'Connor of Canisius.

Bevo, who finished last season with 1,954 points in 39 games, announced firmly that he and the rest of the lads were looking forward to their next game Dec. 3 against Adelphi in Madison Square Garden.

And there will be no stage fright so far as the 6-foot-9 Bevo is concerned.

"We'll play ball," he said.

Bevo, who moves quickly and smoothly for a big man, was in some pretty rough going last night under the boards, but didn't seem to mind.

Twenty of his points were from the foul line.

Newt Oliver, Rio Grande's enthusiastic little coach, said he was a mite disappointed with his club's performance against Erie Tech, a two-year college. The team's shooting average was 45 per cent, Bevo's 44.

Sore Fans, Sore Arm Didn't Bother Layne In Lions' Triumph

Detroit, Nov. 27 (AP) — Bobby Layne wouldn't let a sore arm, or some sore fans, bother him.

So today the Detroit Lions were within two games of clinching their second straight championship in the Western Division of the National Football League.

Layne, who had been roundly booed by irate Detroit fans who felt he was hurting the team, struck back at his critics yesterday by combining with end Cloyce Box on a spectacular 97-yard touchdown pass play against the Green Bay Packers.

It was the longest scoring pass in Detroit history and ignited the Lions to a 34-15 victory before 52,607 fans and millions of televiewers in the east, south and midwest.

Standing in his own end zone, Layne lofted a third-period pass which carried 65 yards in the air. Box gathered it in behind Ace Loomis, Green Bay's top pass defender, and coasted the rest of the way. It brought the Lions to within one point of Green Bay, 15-14, and set the pace for Detroit's 27-point explosion in the second half.

And Layne did it with an extremely sore arm. It had hurt him so much, in fact, that he didn't throw one pass in the regular practice sessions. Nobody knew this except the Lions and they kept it a well-guarded secret until after the game.

Roos rimmed 10 points and B. Kaiser hit seven for the Preps, who also were aided by Grimaldi's excellent rebounding. Neil Keyser bucketed 19 points for the Boys Club.

See Gallardo Surprising Lulu

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Chalky Wright believes the "Broadway wise guys" are going to get a surprise tonight when his Davey Gallardo takes on classy Lulu Perez in a return ten rounder at Madison Square Garden.

The "wise guys" have made Perez, a 20-year old Brooklyn speed boy, a 3-1 favorite to hang another defeat on the 23-year old Los Angeles featherweight.

Lulu, who is gunning for his 24th consecutive victory, was a 4-1 choice when they met the first time in the Garden on Sept. 4. Perez won an eight round TKO because of two wide, deep cuts over Gallardo's left eye, but the scrappy Californian had come on to give Lulu the scare of his life. He rocked Perez with a right to the chin in the eighth and seemed on his way to a decision victory at least.

Wright, the former featherweight champion who handles Gallardo, told Referee Ruby Goldstein to stop the sizzler after the eighth because of the cuts. Dr. Vincent Nardiello used 15 stitches to sew up the gashes. The Perez backers figure Lulu will slice Davey again.

"My guy had Perez hurt, but good, in the eighth," said Chalky. "Just wait 'til he gets around to the ninth and tenth this time. Those Broadway wise guys maybe will learn something for a change."

Starting time for the ten is 10 p. m., EST. It will be broadcast (ABC) and telecast (NBC) coast to coast.

HVBL Match Postponed

The Hudson Valley league match between Schryver Lumber and Arlington Lanes scheduled Saturday night at the Central Recs has been postponed in deference to the KWBA tournament.

You're Not the Best Until You Win Them All, But What's to Stop Perfectionist Brown

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
(NEA Staff Writer)

There is a story behind the Cleveland Browns and the most fabulous championship reign in the history of football.

It was 1944 and Notre Dame had a young assistant coach who couldn't be trusted to the big scouting jobs. He cluttered up the Irish bench.

So for six Saturdays in a row Creighton Miller was assigned to watch Great Lakes, Coaching the Gobs was Paul Brown, late of Massillon's Washington High and Ohio State, a man who wasn't used to losing.

Miller, himself an All-America the year before, watched amazed.

"I'd have his offense down pat one week," recalls Miller, now a Cleveland attorney, "and darned if the next week he wouldn't come up with a completely new pattern. I said to myself, "File this man for future reference."

McBride Signed Him

A Miller confidant was Arthur Mickey McBride, Cleveland taxicab tycoon, who was wheeling into the professional football field with the newly organized All-America Conference.

"Here's five names," Mickey told Creighton one morning in January, 1945. "Go down to Columbus to the coaches' convention and sound them out for the coaching job. .It's worth about $25,000 a year."

The names were Slip Madigan, Bo McMillin, Frank Leahy, Jim Crowley and Paul Brown. Miller saw only one man—the last one.

You go to Cleveland to find out what's the trick that brought seven championships in seven years and incontrovertibly all tracks lead to this same Paul Brown.

Key Word—Organization

The key word is organization. Paul Brown is a smart coach, but not necessarily a brilliant strategist.. He has brought no remarkable innovation into the game. He simply works harder at his job than anyone in the business, and his work is well directed. His teams are famous for their timing, precision mechanics and attention to detail.

Branch Rickey used to look for baseball players who could run, throw and hit. Paul Brown says, "I look for a football player who has good character, is brave and fast enough."

Miller says, "Brown players are smarter. They have three to four times as much classroom activity as anyone in pro ball. The book work is no phony. The fellows have to learn their plays. I know. I used to grade them."

What Manner of Man?

Brown has been pictured as a cold martinet. It's not exactly true. He doesn't drive players. They have only two scrimmages in pre-season training. They never scrimmage after the exhibition grind begins. They get Monday and Tuesday off after a game, probably the only team in the league with that leisure.

Brown has been maligned for aloofness and brusqueness. He is no paragon of public relations. You can tell him you'd like to see the Browns work out.

"You can't do that," he answers. Why not?

"I don't know you."

But he is close to his squad. He gets them jobs and counsels them on personal problems. He demands only complete concentration on the job of winning.

For that reason he's not ready to label this 1953 team the best. We asked him if this were his finest season's start.

"Gosh, no," he answered, "we won them all in 1948, and you're not the best until you do that."

Soft Coal Burns At Esopus; Other Blazes Reported

Part of 200 tons of soft coal in a bin at the Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus, caught fire by spontaneous combustion this morning.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy, who was called to the seminary for advice in combating the fire, said the Esopus firemen had it under control when he arrived. The local fire department was notified at 8:08 a. m. The fire burned only a small part of the coal, the chief said.

Local firemen were called twice this morning to check fires in trucks and another call was for a slight fire in a boat under construction at Island Dock.

Box 4611 at Hurley and Snyder avenues was sounded at 8:32 a. m., today for a fire in a state truck in the garage off Quarry street. The blaze was in the carburetor and was quenched before arrival of firemen. Men and equipment from Wiltwyck and Central stations and Excelsior Hose Company responded.

The call to Island Dock was at 10:19 a. m. Chief Murphy said the blaze, apparently caused by an overheated wire, burned off insulation and set fire to a pad of sponge rubber which caused a heavy smoke.

While firemen were at Island Dock the other call for a truck fire came at 10:34 a. m. It was caused by an overheated emergency brake in a Kingston Laundry truck near 246 East Chester street. Wicks Engine Company responded.

Says Plans Unchanged

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—Actress Ava Gardner said today her plans to divorce singer Frank Sinatra are unchanged. She arrived here by plane from Los Angeles, en route to Rome to make a motion picture. The brunette confirmed reports that her recent meeting with Sinatra in Hollywood failed to heal their widely publicized split. Asked if she planned a divorce at this time, she said: "My plans are the same as they were three or four weeks ago."

Russia Agrees to Meet

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—Russia has offered to meet with the western Big Three to discuss critical European problems, abandoning its earlier insistence that Red China first be accepted by the west in the councils of great powers. But officials here said today it was by no means certain that the Red China issue would not still block any profitable discussions between east and west.

Giles Cited at Premiere

Master Sergeant Burton F. Giles, left, is presented a watch as the H. Gallop Award, from Lt. Col. Frank W. Harkin, commanding officer of the 156th Field Artillery Battalion, New York National Guard, during the premiere of Take the High Ground at the Broadway Theatre Wednesday night. The award was given in recognition of Sgt. Giles' 26 years of service in the army and National Guard.

Jenner Says Nine

born in Poland, served a five-year jail term for his part in the spying.

His wife said yesterday he has gone to Czechoslovakia on business and for his health.

The Jenner subcommittee turned to Gouzenko after Attorney General Brownell's sensational charges Nov. 6 that the Truman administration was "incredibly" lax toward rooting Reds out of key government positions.

White Case Cited

Brownell cited the case of Harry Dexter White, who he said was promoted by Truman from assistant treasury secretary to U. S. representative of the International Monetery Fund despite FBI reports linking him to espionage. Truman replied he did this to keep White and others similarly suspected under surveillance. But FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover told the Jenner group he disapproved of this arrangement, which he said hampered FBI checks on Red suspects.

Jenner's statement yesterday said White, Hiss and seven other former government workers are now the subcommittee's primary concern. White died in 1948 and Hiss is serving a five-year perjury sentence for denying under oath that he gave state secrets to a Communist agent.

Jenner announced the subcommittee has printed for public distribution the testimony taken at a public hearing in Washington last June 25 from J. Anthony Panuch.

Panuch, a New York lawyer who worked under Hiss at the State Department, testified he was instrumental in blocking a plan which would have given Hiss greater influence at the United Nations.

Newburgh Man

Keeler were taken to Vassar Hospital, where Johnson was treated for a severe laceration of the right eye and the clergyman for multiple contusions and abrasions.

Traffic was tied up on Route 9W for an hour or more, troopers estimated.

Upon his release, Johnson was arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Fred C. Woolsey, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to 25 days in the Ulster county jail.

Meanwhile, state police reported, they learned that Johnson was wanted by Newburgh police to answer a second degree assault charge. Newburgh was notified and a warrant filed against Johnson to be executed upon his release from the Ulster county jail.

Probe May Come

Detroit, Nov. 27 (AP)—U. S. Attorney Fred W. Kaess said today a federal grand jury may be called to investigate Detroit area affairs of the AFL Teamsters Union as directed by James R. Hoffa.

Late Bulletin

Washington, Nov. 27 (AP)—The United States today branded Russia's latest note on a Big Four meeting as an obvious effort to slow progress on the development of a "greater European unity and strength."

Crowd for Royal Polo

Kingston, Jamaica, Nov. 27 (AP)—Thousands of holidaying Jamaicans turned out early today to watch two-goal Philip of Edinburgh in a contest with this island colony's best polo players. The early-morning match launched the final strenuous round of the three-day visit by Queen Elizabeth II and her husband. They sail late this afternoon on the liner Gothic for the Panama Canal and the rest of their round-the-world commonwealth tour. Gov. Sir Hugh Foot headed the team opposing the duke's four at polo. Philip's two-goal international handicap, equivalent to about seven in local ratings, was exceeded only by that of Jamaica's best player, Leslie Mais, a local eight-goaler. The social climax of the royal visit came last night when some 2,500 Jamaicans attended a huge reception on the floodlit gardens and lawns of King's House.

Milk Price Is Cut

New York, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Borden Co., and Sheffield Farms Co., announced today a one-half cent a quart cut in milk prices, effective Dec. 1. The reduction affects New York city, Westchester county and Long Island. The lower prices for consumers follow downward the price paid milk producers. The latest federal marking order for the New York city milk shed lowers the price to dairymen 20 cents a hundredweight, slightly less than half a cent a quart. The new price for homogenized milk in bottles to dealers will be 23 cents a quart, and 27½ cents a quart delivered to homes.

Fire Rages in Pusan

Pusan, Korea, Nov. 27 (AP)—A wind-fanned fire swept through hundreds of houses in this refugee-packed port city tonight and endangered American Army installations. An American Army officer said he did not know at 10 p. m. (8 a. m. EST) if any one had burned to death. The fire still blazed. A 20 to 30 mile per hour wind whipped the fire, which broke out 8 p. m. American and Korean fire fighters called out all available equipment. The toll of houses and shacks burned may pass the 1,000 mark, an army officer said.

Is Reported AWOL

Heidelberg, Germany, Nov. 27 (AP)—The U. S. Army's European Headquarters here said today a Polish-born soldier who the Communists claim fled to East Germany has been absent without leave from his unit in West Germany since Nov. 1. The soldier is Pvt. Stanislaw Zadnowski, 25, of Batavia, N. Y., a member of Company F, 26th Regiment, U. S. First Infantry Division. ADN, the official Soviet zone news agency, said last night that Zadnowski crossed into Communist East Germany Nov. 7 and was turned over to Polish authorities at his own request.

Safecrackers Get $1,500 in Albany

Safecrackers got approximately $1,500 in cash from a safe at Albany on Thursday, police of that city reported.

The money was taken from a safe at the Albany Fruit Co., Inc., at 10 Lyon Block, and Deputy Police Chief John P. Tuffey and Detectives James Linden and Peter McDermott, who investigated, said it was the first major safe cracking job in Albany in more than a year.

Ulster county has experienced three safe jobs this month. On Nov. 1 more than $1,000 in cash was reported taken from Van Gonsic's Huguenot Motor Sales at New Paltz. A week later, a sum in excess of $1,000 was taken from the safe at Van Gorder's garage along Route 209 near Elenville, and on Nov. 22 about $1,800 was reported taken from Martin-Moran garage on East Chester street, Kingston.

Entry into the Albany Fruit Company premises was gained by cutting a wire mesh on one of the doors, Albany sources reported. The thieves apparently attempted to open the safe by knocking off the dial, and when this proved unsuccessful they tipped the safe over and removed a steel plate from the bottom, chiseled out a concrete base and pried open another layer of metal to gain entry to the strong box.

Pedestrian Is Hurt

Elizabeth, N. J., Nov. 27 (AP)—Joseph Havranko, 63, of 63 Lexington avenue, White Plains, N. Y., was seriously injured early today when he was struck by a car as he walked across Rt. 1 at Grove street here. Police said Havranko was hit by a car driven by Pvt. Elmore C. Allen, 20, Bristol, Me., who is stationed at Ft. Dix, N. J. Havranko suffered a possible skull fracture, compound fracture of the right leg, a fractured right arm and internal injuries. Elizabeth General Hospital said he was in fair condition. There was no indication of what he was doing in Elizabeth, and police were unable to talk with him. No charges were filed against Allen.

Won't Replace Adviser

New Delhi, India, Nov. 27 (AP)—A government spokesman said today India does not plan to send a replacement to Korea for B. N. Chakravarty, political adviser and alternate chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission. Chakravarty is returning to India because the severe Korean winter is affecting his health. The spokesman said Chakravarty, who is India's ambassador to The Hague, is expected to arrive in India from Tokyo Dec. 1 and would receive medical treatment here before continuing on to Holland.
